Ford Edges Reagan In Primary Vote

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — President Ford edged out Ronald Reagan today in New Hampshire's leadoff primary, and Jimmy Carter strengthened his claim to frontrunner status with a comfortable triumph in the crowded Democratic field.

With only a scattering of votes remaining to be counted after a see-saw race, Ford had 53,959 or 51 per cent of the vote to Reagan's 52,652 or 49 per cent.

Former Georgia Gov. Carter defeated four major candidates on the Democratic ballot.

Final returns were slow in coming in, partly because officials in Keene, a Ford stronghold, delayed release of their totals until a more complete picture of the city's voting was in.

"I feel what's happened tonight is a victory," a tired Reagan told a post-midnight news conference before the final results were in. He claimed at least a moral victory compared with his stated pre-election goal of 40 per cent of the vote.

But Ford supporters called claims of moral victory "a lot of baloney" and said "a victory is a victory."

Carter, who like Reagan waged a campaign against the Washington establishment, flashed a victory sign to cheering supporters in a Manchester hotel ballroom and declared he would win the Democratic nomination on the first ballot.

Carter's closest challenger was Arizona Rep. Morris K. Udall, who like Carter had campaigned here for more than a year. Udall said his showing vaulted him to the front of the liberal pack.

With 91 per cent of the anticipated vote counted, the lineup was:

—Carter 22,578 or 30 per cent.

—Udall 18,131 or 24 per cent.

—Indiana Sen. Birch Bayh 12,268 or 16 per cent.

—Former Oklahoma Sen. Fred Harris 8,614 or 11 per cent.

—R. Sargent Shriver, 1972 Democratic vice presidential nominee, 6,500 or 9 per cent.

Reagan said his showing "far exceeds our expectations." He reiterated that he originally had expected to get only about 40 per cent against an incumbent president.

Ford's campaign officials scoffed at Reagan's claims. "A victory is a victory, particularly for an incumbent who has been making tough decisions every single day of the week," declared Rep. James Cleveland, Ford's state campaign director.

Howard H. Callaway, Ford's national campaign chairman, said in Washington the President expected to finish just ahead of Reagan and that it would be an important triumph because, he said, New Hampshire is Reagan's best state outside the South.

The candidates still face 30 more primaries before the nominating conventions, and Reagan himself said of New Hampshire:

"One primary does not a summer make."

Among eight minor Democratic candidates, only Ellen McCormack, of Bellmore, N.Y., an antiabortion candidate, showed in the ranking, with 1 per cent. On the strength of write-in ballots, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota got 5 per cent of the vote and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace had 1 per cent.

The "beauty contest" presidential preference votes, which are non-binding, attracted the spotlight in the nation's first primary. But voters also cast ballots for 17 Democratic and 21 Republican delegates to the national party conventions.

In that category, candidates pledged to Ford were leading 18-3, while delegates pledged to Carter held 13 seats and Udall had 4.

As had been the case for most of the campaign, the Reagan-Ford matchup grabbed most of the attention election night.

Reagan jumped into an early lead with a strong showing in Manchester, where the Union Leader, the state's largest newspaper, had religiously backed the former California governor.

Then it was Ford ahead, then Reagan, and Ford again as returns slowly began to come in from Keene in the far southwestern part of the state. The President had visited Keene, and his supporters expected a strong showing there.

It was clear early that Ford had fallen far short of a margin normally held by an incumbent president, though his case is unique in that he was not elected. Reagan strategists had kept their predictions low — "something over 40 per cent" — while Ford himself had predicted outright victory for his campaign in New Hampshire.

As early returns built a Reagan lead, Ford campaign strategists in Washington invoked the name of Richard M. Nixon, saying the former president's trip to China revived memories of the Watergate scandal, his resignation and his subsequent pardon by Ford.

But Reagan's state campaign manager, Hugh Gregg, called such reasoning "nonsense" and declared, "It never came up in the campaign. They're just looking for an excuse."

Carter's victory pushed him to the front of nine Democratic contenders for the nomination and will likely give him a big boost in the contests he faces next — the Democratic delegate caucuses in South Carolina on Saturday, primaries in Massachusetts and Vermont next Tuesday and in Florida on March 9.

But Udall said his second place showing also was a boost for his campaign because it put him into the lead against the more liberal contenders in the race — Bayh, Harris and Shriver.

"We emerged out of the contest as the leader of the progressive center candidates. We are where we planned to be," said Udall who first began campaigning in New Hampshire in the summer of 1974.

Bayh said he was gratified with his showing. "We're running a good strong third," he said. Bayh, who announced his entry into the race last November, in the past has lamented his late start.

Harris, who had waged a populist campaign against big business and had largely been ignored by the state's party organization, said he had hoped to do better than fourth.

And Shriver, who said he was "encouraged" despite his lastplace finish, said he was looking forward to a better showing in the Massachusetts primary.

Officials Seek Permanent Solution To Disposal Of Local Solid Waste

By DAVE AMEY

Pickaway County Commissioners, township trustees, Circleville city officials, and members of the Board of Health will meet 8 p.m. March 8 in the Common Pleas Court Room to examine available methods of the disposal of solid waste.

The group hopes to find a permanent solution from land and monetary resources within the county.

The action does not come too soon, according to some board members, who note that the only licensed landfill in Pickaway County could be forced to shut down as early as March 31.

Ongoing problems with the sanitary disposal of solid waste at the site will affect the deadline, they said, as the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency is keeping a close watch on the operation. In any event, they said, the landfill will run out of room in 12 to 18 months.

Plans to use landfill sites in other counties have been scuttled by the respective county authorities. But, Franklin County Commissioners have given the department permission to use the Jackson Pike landfill in the event the local landfill is closed.

However, Franklin County authorities said that this should not be regarded as a permanent solution.

The current landfill, operated near Route 104, was begun six years ago. However, EPA rules regarding the operation of landfills have changed to the point that the site would not have been approved if examined under current standards.

Because there is no provision in the Ohio Food Service Law for a restaurant grading system, Art Gibson, Southeast District Supervising Sanitarian for the Ohio Department of Health recommended that the Pickaway County Board of Health toughen the established standards in an effort to improve food service operations in the county.

The board, meeting Tuesday night, was seeking to improve the criteria by which restaurants are inspected in an attempt to "be better than what we already are."

Under the grading system proposed and then abandoned by the board, restaurants would have been given the letter grades "A", "B", and "C" to designate the cleanliness of their overall operation. This letter grade, which would have been placed in a prominent place in the establishment, would be subject to change after each inspection by local sanitarians.

However, that system was ruled illegaly, according to Gibson, by the Ohio Department of Health.

He noted that "we have the laws" to clean up food service establishments. "We don't have any need for a grading system," he said. "Under the uniform set of Ohio laws, any restaurant you go into should be good."

Gibson also praised the local department for its excellent work record, pointing out that the Pickaway County Department was one of eight departments in the state picked to participate in a federal food survey.

There are 164 health departments in Ohio.

The prototype survey would do away with numbers on inspection forms.

The Board of Health has also scheduled a meeting with principals of all schools in Pickaway County to discuss priorities of the board-employed health nurses.

Daylight Time Extension Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is debating whether Daylight Saving Time should be extended to eight months, as it was last year, or whether it should run for six months or less.

Unless Congress acts, the country automatically goes back on six months of standard time and six months of DST. This means Daylight Saving now is set to run from April 25 to Oct. 31.

If Daylight Saving is extended to eight months under a bill before the Senate, it would run from March 7 to Nov. 14.

The eight-month option — plus an additional week in November to avoid changing times in the last week of the presidential election campaign — is thought to have the edge in the Senate. But similar legislation is bottled up in the House Commerce Committee, leading some observers to doubt whether any bill can pass Congress this year.

Congress began experimenting with longer Daylight Saving Time periods as an energy-saving effort during the Arab oil boycott of 1973. The experiment started by extending DST through the entire year. For the next two years it ran for eight months.

Sens. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., and Wendell Ford, D-Ky., both called for the defeat of any extension of Daylight Saving Time that would include the winter months. Ford has proposed cutting it back to five months.

"Its particular fault lies in the fact that it ignores the concern of many more people, particularly parents, who are fearful of putting their children on a street or a country road in rain, sleet or snow in the dark of morning to await transportation to school," Talmadge said.

"To claim that the extension of Daylight Saving Time will conserve fuel and energy is to indulge in fantasy," he said. "People getting up to go about their business while it is still dark have to turn on the lights. When it is cold they have to turn up the heat. That doesn't save energy, it costs energy."

Ford sounded the traditional refrain of opponents of DST that it is an inconvenience to farmers.

The Senate Commerce Committee, which approved the legislation, said it is relying on a Transportation Department report that says there are small but significant energy savings of about 1 per cent involved in extending DST to March and April.

In addition, the department reported that in the period when March and April were covered by DST about 50 lives were saved and 2,000 injuries prevented from auto accidents.

Kissinger Finds Hemisphere Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger found basic agreement with American foreign policy during his Latin American trip, including his concern over new Cuban aggression.

A senior American official told newsmen on the flight home Tuesday night that Kissinger found no sense of confrontation in any of the six nations he visited, including the one he thought might be troublesome, Peru. He also visited Brazil, Venezuela, Colombia, Costa Rica and Guatemala.

Kissinger's nine-day visit in Latin America was his first trip to the area since he entered the government in 1969. His last stop was a two-hour layover in Guatemala, where he examined earthquake damage in Guatemala City. Before leaving, he promised to do his "utmost to respond to the courage of the Guatemalan people."

But it was the over-all trip that occupied the senior official as the plane headed for Washington. And the official seemed to dwell on Cuba in spite of Kissinger's public claims that the tour was not a crusade to drum up opposition to Fidel Castro.

The only leader who didn't share Kissinger's perception of Cuba as a hemispheric threat in the wake of its Angola intervention was Peruvian president Francisco Morales Bermudez. But even Morales Bermudez didn't say he opposed Kissinger's determination to stop any Cuban intervention in the hemisphere.

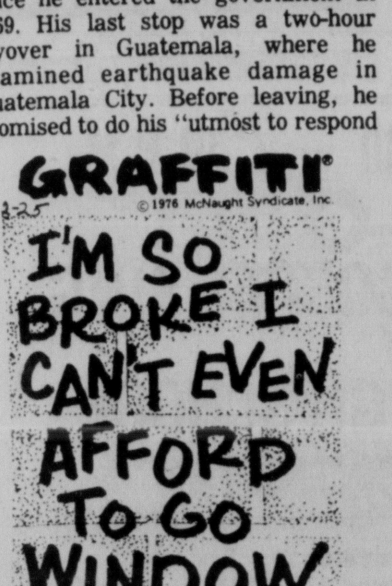
In a stop in Costa Rica Tuesday, Kissinger spoke to officials of five Central American nations and warned that the Cuban action in Angola might be a precedent for Cuba's resumption of Latin American attempts to export revolution.

Any such effort will be opposed by the United States using the collective security machinery of the Rio Treaty, which set up a process to prevent outside interference in the affairs of hemisphere nations.

In his last day in Latin America, Kissinger also met in Costa Rica with Gen. Juan Tack, Panama's chief negotiator in talks about a new Panama Canal treaty.

A U.S. official said both men agreed on the importance of reaching a new pact to replace the one signed in 1903.

However, Kissinger and Tack agreed as well that a great deal of work remains, the official said. The problems deal with the length of a treaty and over how much of the Canal Zone now held by the United States will be returned to Panama.



Nixon Denies Criticism Of Policy

PEKING (AP) — Richard Nixon today denied criticizing the Helsinki Declaration or applauding a song calling for the "liberation" of Taiwan during his visit to Peking.

"My God," he said to an aide when asked about the controversy over the toast he made at a banquet Sunday night, "I've used that statement a dozen times before and I used it in a general context. It could apply to the United Nations charter or the Shanghai Communique or any international document."

The statement referred to by Nixon was interpreted in some quarters as criticism of President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger for joining the Soviet Union in the Helsinki agreement on European security and cooperation.

Nixon in his toast talked about the Shanghai Communique he signed four years ago with the late Premier Chou Enlai and then commented:

"There are, of course, some who believe that the mere act of signing a statement of principles or a diplomatic conference will bring instant and lasting peace. This is naive. There cannot and will not be lasting and secure peace until every nation in the world respects the security and independence of every other nation large or small."

Several State Department officials were angered by Nixon's comment, but both Kissinger and the White House said after reading the full text of the toast, they did not interpret it as a criticism.

Nixon also denied that when he applauded during a concert Monday night, he was clapping for a song calling for the ouster of the Nationalist Chinese regime from Taiwan.

Nixon also denied that when he applauded during a concert Monday night, he was clapping for a song calling for the ouster of the Nationalist Chinese regime from Taiwan.

CHAIRMAN — Stan Spring, a member of the Circleville High School faculty, will serve as chairman of the Industrial Arts and Vocational Education Section of the 46th All-Ohio Safety Congress and Exhibit to be held April 19, 20, 21, and 22 at the Sheraton Columbus Motor Hotel in Columbus. In keeping with the Bicentennial observance, the theme of the 1976 Congress is "Spirit of Safety '76," with particular emphasis on revitalizing those things that have made America great and enlisting them in the continuing effort to reduce on-the-job accidents and disease in Ohio. At the Congress, the largest single-state safety convention in the nation, industrial accident and disease-prevention specialists from throughout Ohio, as well as from a number of other states and foreign countries, gather to update their professional data, knowledge and techniques.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced again today, with traders apparently bracing for another charge at the elusive 1,000-mark in the Dow Jones industrial average.

The Dow was ahead fractionally minutes after the opening and advances held a narrow lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

On the news front, analysts could see little effect on Wall Street as a result of Tuesday's New Hampshire presidential primary. Some, however, viewed Ronald Reagan's strong second place showing against President Ford as a possible party challenge to the encumbant's strength.

Among today's prices, Warner Communications added ⅜ to 23⅞, US Life Corp. up ½ to 15, and Dow Chemical declined a point to 111¾.

The meeting will be held sometime in April.

Twelve school visits were made in the last 19 working days, the nurses said. At Washington, 250 children received vision screening with 15 referred for further examination, and 96 children received immunizations.

At McDowell, 155 children received vision screening, 37 were referred for further examination, and 23 received immunizations.

At Darby, 328 children received vision screening and 48 were referred.

At Monroe, 282 children received vision screening, 52 were referred, and 69 were immunized.

At Jackson, 310 children received vision screening, 66 were referred, and 104 were immunized.

The immunizations totaled 46 DPT, 217 DT, 415 Polio, 28 combined measles, and five rubella.

So far this year, 3,421 children have been screened, 599 referred for further examination, but only 68 have completed the referral. Health nurses make three notifications to parents and then try to contact them in person if a referral is not completed.

In routine office business, the nurses re-ordered medication for 10 patients regularly followed on the Rheumatic Fever Program, gave medication to 18, performed 11 routine TB skin tests, and gave 26 patients INH serum.

In clinics, seven people were seen and reevaluated at the Chest Clinic, which will be held March 31: seven patients were treated at the VD clinic; eight county residents with either hearing or speech difficulties were seen by Dr. Howard Lowery at the POD clinic, which will again be held April 12; 56 patients visits were recorded at two prenatal clinics; 33 children received physicals and immunization through the well-child clinic; and 159 children were seen at the one immunization clinic.

It was also announced that the first-ever Diagnostic Ocular Pediatric (DOP) Clinic has been tentatively scheduled for April 27 at the Presbyterian Church. This will be the first clinic of its type in the county and is primarily designed to add additional optometric service and to evaluate school vision screening programs.

Final plans have also been completed for the Diabetic Clinic, which will be held March 23 through April 2 at various locations in the county.

Board members also learned that the Federal grant governing the cost of immunizations given by the local department would be terminated June 1.

That means that an alternative solution to funding will have to be reached, either by the state or local department.

In other business, the board:

Planned to make a detailed soil analysis of a plot of land in Ringgold to see if it would accept a home sewage system;

Tabled discussion on sewage plant lab testing which is required by the Pickaway County Commissioners;

Learned that two more applications for Sightsaver Fund assistance were made last month, raising the total waiting to 16. Donations from organizations or private individuals are still being accepted;

Announced that the yearly meeting of the Advisory Council would be held 2 p.m. Monday at the Health Department offices;

Authorized sanitarian Bob Kramer to attend seminars on Pest Control operators testing and identification.

The board will meet in regular session March 30 at 7 p.m.

Consumers Aided By Assembly Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A legal doctrine which can now block consumers from withholding payments for defective goods would be repealed for most consumer sales under a bill passed by the House on Tuesday.

The lower chamber approved 77-10 legislation abolishing the "holder in due course" doctrine in most consumer transactions. The bill now goes to the Senate.

If approved there and signed by the governor, it would end some applications of the doctrine which often have "unjust or even tragic" results for consumers, said Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, the bill's sponsor.

The holder in due course doctrine refers to the buying and selling of negotiable instruments. In consumer transactions, that usually means the sale of an installment loan contract to a finance company.

The legal doctrine says the "holder in due course," or the finance company, is entitled to be paid under the installment contract whatever dispute might exist between the original buyer and seller.

In practical terms, that means a consumer dissatisfied with an item purchased under installment contract often cannot stop the payments because the "holder in due course" of the installment contract is not the same person that sold the goods.

The only exception is if the consumer can prove the finance company has actual knowledge of abuse by the seller, Orlett said.

Orlett said 40 state legislatures have changed the doctrine, while courts have done the same in three others.

"Six (states) share Ohio's outmoded approach of having a complaint period after which consumer complaints cannot be put forth," Orlett said.

The Federal Trade Commission has abolished the doctrine in interstate consumer transactions effective May 14. He said Congress is expected to act along similar lines soon.

There was no opposition voiced to the bill itself, although it was amended to retain the holder in due course doctrine for utilities, insurance companies, doctors and lawyers.

Orlett said some of those should be covered, but "I'm willing to fight that battle another day." He accepted the amendment

The bill if approved would be effective Jan. 1, 1977. It would affect both contracts entered into after that day and contracts already in force on that day.

Reagan Set To Campaign In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Supporters of Ronald Reagan were expected today to disclose what plans if any the former California governor has for a presidential primary campaign bid in Ohio.

The Republican state organization has endorsed President Ford and is seeking delegates to represent him in the June 8 Ohio primary.

Sen. Donald E. Lukens, R-4 Middletown, said he expected to receive matching orders from Reagan campaign leaders shortly after the results of Tuesday's New Hampshire primary were known.

Lukens said he had discussed informally with GOP state Chairman Kent McGough the possibility of "an accommodation" that could result in some Ohio delegate support for Reagan, short of a primary confrontation with Ford.

The southwestern Ohio conservative declined to reveal details of the talks.

McGough ruled out any suggestion of mixed delegate slates in which both candidates would have delegates in a single congressional district.

"With any serious candidates in the field, any possibility of split delegates is pretty much impossible," he said. "In fact, it is impossible."

Jury Clears 3 Officers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three former and present high ranking Cincinnati police officials have been cleared of illigal activity by a special Hamilton County grand jury which has been probing the department since Nov. 10, 1975.

The grand jury Tuesday reported it had ignored charges after investigating retired Assistant Chief Embry Grimes, retired Capt. James Stout and Capt. Edward Diekman.

The jury, empaneled Nov. 10, 1975, was charged by the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court to report when it did not return indictments against officers who were being investigated.

The jury last December returned indictments against Police Chief Carl Goodin and six vice squad members. All were suspended by City Manager William Donaldson. The indictments ranged from soliciting funds from officers assigned to commercial radio helicopter traffic broadcasts to soliciting prostitutes, making false statements to the grand jury and accepting liquor in return for special treatment.

The grand jury said Stout, former District Seven Commander, had been investigated for two charges of theft and one of embezzlement. Diekman was investigated for theft and two counts of soliciting or receiving improper compensation and Grimes had been under investigation for embezzlement.

Air Force Ponders Budget Pinch

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Air Force Logistics Command representatives and U.S. Air Force officials at the Pentagon meet this week in Washington to determine ways to relieve the command of a budgetary crisis.

The command confirmed Tuesday that the Pentagon decided its intention to lay off 88,000 civilians for six days in June was "not a viable option" to solve the financial pinch.

"This does not, however, preclude the possibility of a furlough if AFL Command's fund shortage is not solved," said Col. Russ Turner, director of command information.

The command considered the layoffs as a cost-cutting measure to relieve a payroll shortfall that was anticipated when the Air Force's operations and maintenance funds were cut by about $500 million.

The 88,000 civilian employes who would have been affected by the furloughs were at Air Force Logistic Command bases at Warner-Robbins AFB in Georgia; Tinker AFB in Oklahoma; Kelly AFB in Texas; McClellan AFB in California; Hill AFB in Utah; Wright-Patterson AFB in Ohio; Davis-Monthan AFB in Arizona, and the aerospace, guidance and meteorology center at Newark, Ohio.

Court Rules On Auto Insurance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Auto insurance companies are not required to give their policyholders a "grace period" for payment of late premiums, nor must they send a notice that a policy has lapsed, the Supreme Court ruled today.

The court in a 4-3 decision said a policyholder cannot reinstate his policy retroactively by paying an overdue premium.

Two dissenting justices agreed there need be no grace period, but said cancellation notice was required when the policy lapsed.

The court's decision came in an appeal by Educator and Executive Insurers Inc. from decisions holding it liable for insurance coverage after the insurance policy had lapsed.

The case involves David Robert Morey, who held an Educator's policy. The renewal premium on the six-month policy was due on March 1.

Morey admitted he received the premium due notice in February, but did not bother opening it until March 18. Meanwhile, on March 17, he was in an auto accident.

When he called Educators, he was told his policy had lapsed for non-payment of premium. However, Morey said, he sent in the overdue premium anyway.

A renewal policy was entered by Educators, effective March 20, when the premium was received. Morey then appealed to the superintendent of insurance, saying acceptance of the premium made his insurance effective on March 1, and that his wreck was therefore covered.

The meeting will be held sometime in April.

Twelve school visits were made in the last 19 working days, the nurses said. At Washington, 250 children received vision screening with 15 referred for further examination, and 96 children received immunizations.

At McDowell, 155 children received vision screening, 37 were referred for further examination, and 23 received immunizations.

At Darby, 328 children received vision screening and 48 were referred.

At Monroe, 282 children received vision screening, 52 were referred, and 69 were immunized.

At Jackson, 310 children received vision screening, 66 were referred, and 104 were immunized.

The immunizations totaled 46 DPT, 217 DT, 415 Polio, 28 combined measles, and five rubella.

So far this year, 3,421 children have been screened, 599 referred for further examination, but only 68 have completed the referral. Health nurses make three notifications to parents and then try to contact them in person if a referral is not completed.

In routine office business, the nurses re-ordered medication for 10 patients regularly followed on the Rheumatic Fever Program, gave medication to 18, performed 11 routine TB skin tests, and gave 26 patients INH serum.

In clinics, seven people were seen and reevaluated at the Chest Clinic, which will be held March 31: seven patients were treated at the VD clinic; eight county residents with either hearing or speech difficulties were seen by Dr. Howard Lowery at the POD clinic, which will again be held April 12; 56 patients visits were recorded at two prenatal clinics; 33 children received physicals and immunization through the well-child clinic; and 159 children were seen at the one immunization clinic.

It was also announced that the first-ever Diagnostic Ocular Pediatric (DOP) Clinic has been tentatively scheduled for April 27 at the Presbyterian Church. This will be the first clinic of its type in the county and is primarily designed to add additional optometric service and to evaluate school vision screening programs.

Final plans have also been completed for the Diabetic Clinic, which will be held March 23 through April 2 at various locations in the county.

Board members also learned that the Federal grant governing the cost of immunizations given by the local department would be terminated June 1.

That means that an alternative solution to funding will have to be reached, either by the state or local department.

In other business, the board:

Planned to make a detailed soil analysis of a plot of land in Ringgold to see if it would accept a home sewage system;

Tabled discussion on sewage plant lab testing which is required by the Pickaway County Commissioners;

Learned that two more applications for Sightsaver Fund assistance were made last month, raising the total waiting to 16. Donations from organizations or private individuals are still being accepted;

Announced that the yearly meeting of the Advisory Council would be held 2 p.m. Monday at the Health Department offices;

Authorized sanitarian Bob Kramer to attend seminars on Pest Control operators testing and identification.

The board will meet in regular session March 30 at 7 p.m.

Consumers Aided By Assembly Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A legal doctrine which can now block consumers from withholding payments for defective goods would be repealed for most consumer sales under a bill passed by the House on Tuesday.

The lower chamber approved 77-10 legislation abolishing the "holder in due course" doctrine in most consumer transactions. The bill now goes to the Senate.

If approved there and signed by the governor, it would end some applications of the doctrine which often have "unjust or even tragic" results for consumers, said Rep. Edward J. Orlett, D-34 Dayton, the bill's sponsor.

The holder in due course doctrine refers to the buying and selling of negotiable instruments. In consumer transactions, that usually means the sale of an installment loan contract to a finance company.

The legal doctrine says the "holder in due course," or the finance company, is entitled to be paid under the installment contract whatever dispute might exist between the original buyer and seller.

In practical terms, that means a consumer dissatisfied with an item purchased under installment contract often cannot stop the payments because the "holder in due course" of the installment contract is not the same person that sold the goods.

The only exception is if the consumer can prove the finance company has actual knowledge of abuse by the seller, Orlett said.

Orlett said 40 state legislatures have changed the doctrine, while courts have done the same in three others.

"Six (states) share Ohio's outmoded approach of having a complaint period after which consumer complaints cannot be put forth," Orlett said.

The Federal Trade Commission has abolished the doctrine in interstate consumer transactions effective May 14. He said Congress is expected to act along similar lines soon.

There was no opposition voiced to the bill itself, although it was amended to retain the holder in due course doctrine for utilities, insurance companies, doctors and lawyers.

Orlett said some of those should be covered, but "I'm willing to fight that battle another day." He accepted the amendment.

The bill if approved would be effective Jan. 1, 1977. It would affect both contracts entered into after that day and contracts already in force on that day.

Reagan Set To Campaign In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Supporters of Ronald Reagan were expected today to disclose what plans if any the former California governor has for a presidential primary campaign bid in Ohio.

The Republican state organization has endorsed President Ford and is seeking delegates to represent him in the June 8 Ohio primary.

Sen. Donald E. Lukens, R-4 Middletown, said he expected to receive matching orders from Reagan campaign leaders shortly after the results of Tuesday's New Hampshire primary were known.

Lukens said he had discussed informally with GOP state Chairman Kent McGough the possibility of "an accommodation" that could result in some Ohio delegate support for Reagan, short of a primary confrontation with Ford.

The southwestern Ohio conservative declined to reveal details of the talks.

McGough ruled out any suggestion of mixed delegate slates in which both candidates would have delegates in a single congressional district.

"With any serious candidates in the field, any possibility of split delegates is pretty much impossible," he said. "In fact, it is impossible."

Jury Clears 3 Officers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three former and present high ranking Cincinnati police officials have been cleared of illgal activity by a special Hamilton County grand jury which has been probing the department since Nov. 10, 1975.

The grand jury Tuesday reported it had ignored charges after investigating retired Assistant Chief Embry Grimes, retired Capt. James Stout and Capt. Edward Diekman.

The jury, empaneled Nov. 10, 1975, was charged by the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court to report when it did not return indictments against officers who were being investigated.

The jury last December returned indictments against Police Chief Carl Goodin and six vice squad members. All were suspended by City Manager William Donaldson. The indictments ranged from soliciting funds from officers assigned to commercial radio helicopter traffic broadcasts to soliciting prostitutes, making false statements to the grand jury and accepting liquor in return for special treatment.

The grand jury said Stout, former District Seven Commander, had been investigated for two charges of theft and one of embezzlement. Diekman was investigated for theft and two counts of soliciting or receiving improper compensation and Grimes had been under investigation for embezzlement.

Air Force Ponders Budget Pinch

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Air Force Logistics Command representatives and U.S. Air Force officials at the Pentagon meet this week in Washington to determine ways to relieve the command of a budgetary crisis.

The command confirmed Tuesday that the Pentagon decided its intention to lay off 88,000 civilians for six days in June was "not a viable option" to solve the financial pinch.

"This does not, however, preclude the possibility of a furlough if AFL Command's fund shortage is not solved," said Col. Russ Turner, director of command information.

The command considered the layoffs as a cost-cutting measure to relieve a payroll shortfall that was anticipated when the Air Force's operations and maintenance funds were cut by about $500 million.

The 88,000 civilian employes who would have been affected by the furloughs were at Air Force Logistic Command bases at Warner-Robbins AFB in Georgia; Tinker AFB in Oklahoma; Kelly AFB in Texas; McClellan AFB in California; Hill AFB in Utah; Wright-Patterson AFB in Ohio; Davis-Monthan AFB in Arizona, and the aerospace, guidance and meteorology center at Newark, Ohio.

Court Rules On Auto Insurance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Auto insurance companies are not required to give their policyholders a "grace period" for payment of late premiums, nor must they send a notice that a policy has lapsed, the Supreme Court ruled today.

The court in a 4-3 decision said a policyholder cannot reinstate his policy retroactively by paying an overdue premium.

Two dissenting justices agreed there need be no grace period, but said cancellation notice was required when the policy lapsed.

The court's decision came in an appeal by Educator and Executive Insurers Inc. from decisions holding it liable for insurance coverage after the insurance policy had lapsed.

The case involves David Robert Morey, who held an Educator's policy. The renewal premium on the six-month policy was due on March 1.

Morey admitted he received the premium due notice in February, but did not bother opening it until March 18. Meanwhile, on March 17, he was in an auto accident.

When he called Educators, he was told his policy had lapsed for non-payment of premium. However, Morey said, he sent in the overdue premium anyway.

A renewal policy was entered by Educators, effective March 20, when the premium was received. Morey then appealed to the superintendent of insurance, saying acceptance of the premium made his insurance effective on March 1, and that his wreck was therefore covered.

Miss South Central Ohio Pageant Tickets On Sale

Tickets are now on sale for the Miss South Central Ohio Pageant to be held March 27 in the Chillicothe High School Auditorium.

The Men's Shop in Central Center, Chillicothe, and Harolde's in the Chillicothe Mall are handling the sale. The pageant, an official preliminary to the Miss America Pageant, is sponsored by Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Headlining this year's pageant and acting as Mistress of Ceremonies will be Terry Meeuwsen, Miss America 1973. A native of De Pere, Wisconsin, Miss Meeuwsen studied Music and Drama and held the lead in several musical productions while attending St. Norbert College there.

She performed in Midwest night clubs for a year before joining the New Christy Minstrels. With the Christys for about two years, she made seven recordings (in four different languages), traveled extensively, and appeared on two Bob Hope Specials and the Tonight Show.

Her vivacious personality, poise, and great singing talent, as displayed in her exciting rendition of "He Touched Me", helped her capture the coveted Miss America title in 1973. During her reign she traveled over 300,000 miles, making hundreds of personal appearances in the United States and in the Far East as leader of the Miss America U.S.O. tour of U.S. Military installations. She also appeared again with Johnny Carson on the Tonight Show, and did the David Frost and Mike Douglas Shows, in addition to numerous other TV shows.

Since crowning her successor in 1973, Terry has studied voice, drama, dance, and speech in New York City and Los Angeles and has continued her hectic personal appearance schedule.

Miss Meeuwsen is presently doing TV and commercial work in the Los Angeles area. She also does numerous Christian appearances.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — About 60 livestock producers from around the state are expected to attend a beef seminar Friday sponsored by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and Cattlemen's Association.

A highlight of the seminar will be a panel discussion of revised federal beef grading standards which lower marbling requirements and make it slightly easier to get cattle into the choice grade.

Other discussions will deal with farm corporate and estate planning and pending state legislation affecting livestock producers.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"An oral contract," says a famous malapropism, "isn't worth the paper it is written on."

And it is true that the law does not take the spoken word as seriously as the written word. It is much harder, for example, to collect damages for defamation of your character if the offending statement was oral (slander) than if it was written (libel).

This does not mean, however, that an oral contract has no effect at all. On the contrary, we make oral contracts every day that are legally binding.

Ordering a meal at a restaurant, asking the plumber to unstop a sink, picking out a bicycle at a garage sale — all these are instances of oral contracts that would be enforced in a court of law.

Even actions alone, with no words at all, may give rise to a binding contract. The man who sits down in a barber chair and has a haircut is obliged to pay for it, even though he said nothing but "Good morning!" when he walked in the door.

What the law does in these cases is to fill in the unspoken details by relying on custom and implication. Consider:

A man attending an auction was held to be the successful bidder because he had nodded his head at the auctioneer. Since this was the customary method of bidding at this particular auction, the court ruled that his nod was just as "legal" as a written offer.

Nevertheless, unwritten contracts do have serious drawbacks. Above all, they are hard to prove in case of dispute. If you are moving into an apartment, no casual conversation with the landlord about your right to keep the drapes is as dependable as a written memorandum.

"I would sooner trust the smallest slip of paper," observed one judge, "than the strongest memory ever bestowed on mortal man."

Constitutional Convention

The move by Nebraska and seven other states to hold the first constitutional convention since 1787 has an admirable purpose. That purpose is to prohibit the federal government from spending more money than it takes in.

However, there would have to be exceptions, in case of war for one. When a nation's fate is at stake, money is no object.

Such a constitutional provision would prevent the shoveling of inflated money from the politicians that has been taking place for years. Perhaps such an amendment is needed, since growing deficits and threatened fiscal collapse have not prevented the present hideous situation.

In a brilliant statement, if that is the word, one Nebraska solon bewailed the call for convention because, in his words, "Unless the rest of the legislatures in the United States exercise better judgement, we will have a convention with the power to rewrite the U.S. Constitution."

Very well. The purpose in the original Constitution of a clause allowing for new conventions was to correct flaws in the original. Surely no one thinks any wholesale changes will be made, but just as certainly the politicians will not mend their ways without definite prohibitions against wild and profligate spending to buy their way back into office each term.

Health Of Statesmen

By JIM BISHOP

Doctor-patient confidentiality is the physician's crutch. He is on high ethical grounds when he conceals grave illness or irrational behavior. The doctor is damned if he tells, and damned if he doesn't.

Wilbur Mills, for example, is not the only alcoholic in Congress. There are others, insulated from discovery by doctors and staff. Reporters know them by name but feel that it would be in bad taste to tell.

The same journalists discovered that Senator Thomas Eagleton of Missouri had once undergone electroconvulsive therapy for chronic depression. They felt that it was right to reveal the story, even though Eagleton had long since recovered. The news almost destroyed the Senator's career.

No one seems able to define at what point the pathology of a statesman may affect the health of a nation. Surely Doctor Morell was aware of Adolf Hitler's deep paranoia, his compulsive obsession with the myth that Germany's enemies were Jews.

Morell, a quack, remained mute. Europe went up in flames. One of every five Jews in the world was slain. Two million Poles died. The question is, would the German people have ousted their Chancellor if they knew the truth? The cynical response must be, "No."

Lord Moran was Winston Churchill's pompous physician for many years. When his patient died, the doctor published his medical findings:

"Since I first saw him ... he has had:

"A heart attack in Washington, D.C., just after Pearl Harbor;

"Three attacks of pneumonia;

"Two strokes, in 1949 and 1953;

"Two operations, one of which found the abdomen full of adhesions and lasted two hours;

"Senile pruritis (anal itching), perhaps the most intractable of all skin troubles;

"A form of conjunctivitis unlikely to clear up without a small operation."

Moran, who was proud of his concealment, did not mention Churchill's diverticulitis, his dyspepsia, his addiction to a fifth of brandy per day.

At times, medical secrecy comes close to comedy. In 1893, when President Grover Cleveland was discovered to have advanced cancer of the mouth, the White House physicians decided that if they operated on a rolling, pitching yacht called the "Oneida," no one would know.

Surgeon Joseph D. Bryant ordered the boat to "steam slowly" up the East River. The staterooms did not offer sufficient light. Bryant had the President propped in a chair and tied securely to the forward mast.

An encapsulated malignancy the size of a 25-cent piece was located in the upper left jaw. Anesthesia was nitrous oxide followed by ether. The distinguished patient was in view of passing tugboats and barges.

A dentist extracted two bicuspids. Bryant then excised the growth. He removed most of the upper left jaw in 31 minutes. It was remarkable work for its time because Cleveland would live in reasonably good health for 15 years.

The mouth healed. Bryant fashioned a rubber jaw and teeth. "News of this," the President said, "will be disastrous for the nation." To the contrary, such news would be catastrophic for Cleveland.

The editors of "Medical World News" have done considerable research on the question of the health of public figures versus the public right to know. Wisely, they point out that Kennedy's mild Addison's disease was not, in itself, noteworthy.

However, for 13 years he had been dependent on a cortisone derivative as a control agent. When he ran for president, Mrs. India Edwards, a backer of LBJ, told the press, "If it weren't for cortisone, Senator Kennedy wouldn't be alive."

This was an exaggeration. The danger, as Dr. James A. Nicholas of New York pointed out, was not the disease, but the possibility of mood alteration because of the use of steroids.

Kennedy might have felt euphoric in the Oval Office when he should have sensed danger to the Republic. A study of Kennedy's decisions in the White House negates the proposition that his outlook was happy-as-a-bird. In private, he was often a contentious grouch.

Whether secrecy is right or wrong, the electorate is not discerning. Our grandparents elected William Howard Taft. He weighed 350 pounds and seemed about to explode. Then there is Richard Nixon . . .

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States may be wasting billions of dollars a year by failing to concentrate medical and health research where the problems are, Walter McNerney, president of the Blue Cross Association, believes.

McNerney said it is increasingly evident that the betterment of national health and well being is to be found in a study of environment, life-style and culture, from which many modern ailments arise.

Nevertheless, he said, the often uncoordinated efforts of the vast health care industry seem to focus on research areas that offer relatively minor possibilities of improvement, and on development of exotic equipment and hospitals.

Referring to the costs involved, he said: "We're doing a good job of doing some old things, but it won't change even if we do an excellent job."

Traditional approaches to delivering health care leave the country "in a bind between cost and payoff," he said. Proof that new approaches must be tried, he said, is evidence that increased expenditures no longer produce improved results.

McNerney said that health care now costs $120 billion a year, but that "we could double that and not make a major impact on some of the key health indices" by continuing existing methods.

Instead, he said, a holistic approach must be attempted, that is, a coordinated attack on the problem rather than the current fragmented emphasis on only various aspects of the problem. Studies that offer the greatest possibilities for raising the general level of health, he said, are indisputably in the areas of environment, life-style and culture.

Blue Cross, he said, already has a contract from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to examine its records in search of clues to occupational causes of disease. But, he said, hospitals must cooperate by beginning to ask more searching questions about possible occupational hazards.

In the United States, occupational hazards alone have been estimated by the National Safety Council to cost $15 billion in 1974, a figure even the council concedes "is likely to be a gross understatement."

As an indication of what he termed a "disjunction between the problem and the resources," McNerney noted that the Department of HEW spends $200 million on biochemical cancer research and under $10 million on possible environmental causes, where study is more likely to produce results.

Who is to blame for the misplaced emphasis that McNerney maintains is widespread? "We're all to blame," he said. "It is only recently that we began to notice."

The new, holistic approach, especially as it relates to environment, life-style and culture, will take time to develop, he conceded. "The health establishment needs a shakeup," he said.

Driver Permit Bill Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans whose drivers licenses were suspended for drunken driving could be permitted to drive to and from work with special permit cards under a bill now half way through the legislature.

The Senate approved 27-3 Tuesday the measure allowing judges to issue the special cards if they determine that the suspended driver might be in danger of losing his job.

Cards also could be issued to persons suspended for refusing to take alcohol blood tests upon arrest, and to those convicted of driving under the influence of drugs.

The cards could be issued only to first offenders.

Sen. M. Ben Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, was among opponents, saying he feared the legislation, which now goes to the House, represents "the start of an erosion" of Ohio's tough laws against drunken driving.

Two other Senate measures went to the lower chamber without dissent. They designate Interstate 70 from Bridgeport to the Indiana line as "Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Highway," and provide for having juveniles in state custody subpoenaed to testify at trials.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

What foods should be avoided in a "low salt diet"?

Miss B.D., N.C.

Dear Miss D.:

Salt is chemically known as sodium chloride. Most often a salt diet is in reality a low sodium diet. This is particularly important because many foods are preserved with sodium benzoate, and these must be avoided in a low salt regime.

Carbonated drinks contain sodium and should be excluded from the diet.

Bread, cereals and pretzels made with baking soda or baking powder are a hidden source of sodium.

The obvious salt foods would, of course, be off the list such as bacon, sausage, brains, smoked meats, kidneys and salt fish.

Shellfish, canned fish and spicy sauces must be omitted from the diet. Vegetables canned with preservatives, sauerkraut, catsup and horseradish are not permitted in the diet.

At first, a salt-free or low-salt diet may seem to be a hardship. Actually it does not have to be. These diets can be made palatable with any of a number of available substitutes for salt.

There are so many varieties of laxatives on the market. How does one choose one safely?

Mrs. D.S., Wash.

Dear Mrs. S.:

Far too many people become dependent on laxatives. Well-balanced diets with adequate fruits and vegetables, cooked and raw, in addition to plenty of water, usually make laxatives unnecessary.

The fixed idea that everyone must have a bowel movement every day is false. There are no time clocks in the intestinal tract. And there should be no need for panic if "regularity" is not always present.

There are, of course, definite indications for the occasional use of a laxative. These are chosen by physicians who know which really are best for their particular patient.

Laxatives act in various ways. Some are mild. Some are irritating. Still others are bulk-forming, while others are lubricants. A patient's need depends on the cause of his bowel disfunction. His own doctor is in the best position to make the ideal choice when a laxative is required.

High Court Nixes Republican Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national organization of liberal and moderate Republicans says it will continue to fight for a bigger share of GOP convention delegates for large states, despite a rebuff by the Supreme Court.

"A floor fight on the issue would do the party good," Glenn Gerstell, a vice president of the Ripon Society, said Monday after the court declined to hear the society's challenge to the delegate allocation formula.

In other action, the court:

—Agreed to decide whether the government may require widowers applying for Social Security benefits to show they were dependent upon their spouses, although widows are not required to do so.

—Agreed to hear arguments by the Justice Department when it ponders the constitutionality of capital punishment on March 30 and 31.

—Announced it will schedule arguments on a dispute between New Hampshire and Maine over their boundary in rich offshore lobster fishing grounds.

—Declined to disturb a limited-growth plan adopted in Petaluma, Calif., and widely regarded as a model for suburban communities desiring to control developments.

—Turned down a proposed test case of whether the Federal Communications Commission's Fairness Doctrine applies to news documentaries and investigative reporting on television.

The Ripon Society had appealed an 8 to 2 decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington last September upholding the GOP system of awarding "bonus delegates" to states that vote Republican.

The court, as usual, gave no reason in announcing that it would not hear the appeal.

The society issued a statement saying it would "continue along with other concerned party leaders, both at the convention in Kansas City and elsewhere, in our efforts to insure that all Republicans are fully and fairly represented."

The society contended that under the existing formula a delegate from Alaska represents 17,000 voters while a delegate from Massachusetts represents 132,000 — a disparity of 8 to 1.

New York Issues Ban On Concorde

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — With the British-French supersonic Concorde ready to begin flights to the United States, New York's legislature has voted to ban it from landing in the New York City metropolitan area.

The bill approved by both houses Monday requires concurrence by New Jersey and the approval of Gov. Hugh Carey, who has expressed doubts about the Concorde but has not taken a position on the measure to ban the jetliner.

Passed 139 to 4 in the Assembly and 46 to 10 in the Senate, the bill would set new noise restrictions for planes landing at airports, including Kennedy International, operated by the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

The noise restrictions are low enough that many current subsonic jets landing at Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark airports could also be banned. But the legislation was written in such a way as to cover only planes not now flying into the airports — a provision obviously aimed at limiting the bill's impact to the Concorde.

British and French representatives complained at a legislative committee hearing last week that this aspect of the bill was discriminatory.

U.S. Transportation Secretary William Coleman ruled earlier this month that the Concorde could begin up to four flights daily into Kennedy as early as March 4, as well as two flights a day into Dulles International Airport near Washington.

Toledo Workers Facing Layoffs

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo City Manager Jim Daken says the city will lay off about 45 workers in the next two weeks because of a budget crunch.

Thirteen or 14 of the workers to be laid off are city firemen hired in November under an affirmative action program. Daken says the city still has not determined what other city divisions will lose workers in the furloughs.

U.S. Recognition Of Angola Near?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign governments have been recognizing Angola's leftist faction at the rate of almost one a day since November, and American officials indicate the United States also has taken a small step in that direction.

Officials said the State Department has notified Gulf Oil Corp. it has no objection to a resumption of Gulf operations in Angola. Gulf's efforts to develop an Angolan oil industry were suspended in December when the outcome of the civil war there was still in doubt.

According to one qualified official, it is a "fairly accurate assumption" that this is the first move toward eventual U.S. diplomatic dealings with Angola's Soviet-backed Popular Movement.

New York Issues Ban On Concorde

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — With the British-French supersonic Concorde ready to begin flights to the United States, New York's legislature has voted to ban it from landing in the New York City metropolitan area.

The bill approved by both houses Monday requires concurrence by New Jersey and the approval of Gov. Hugh Carey, who has expressed doubts about the Concorde but has not taken a position on the measure to ban the jetliner.

Passed 139 to 4 in the Assembly and 46 to 10 in the Senate, the bill would set new noise restrictions for planes landing at airports, including Kennedy International, operated by the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey.

The noise restrictions are low enough that many current subsonic jets landing at Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark airports could also be banned. But the legislation was written in such a way as to cover only planes not now flying into the airports — a provision obviously aimed at limiting the bill's impact to the Concorde.

British and French representatives complained at a legislative committee hearing last week that this aspect of the bill was discriminatory.

U.S. Transportation Secretary William Coleman ruled earlier this month that the Concorde could begin up to four flights daily into Kennedy as early as March 4, as well as two flights a day into Dulles International Airport near Washington.

Toledo Workers Facing Layoffs

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo City Manager Jim Daken says the city will lay off about 45 workers in the next two weeks because of a budget crunch.

Thirteen or 14 of the workers to be laid off are city firemen hired in November under an affirmative action program. Daken says the city still has not determined what other city divisions will lose workers in the furloughs.

U.S. Recognition Of Angola Near?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreign governments have been recognizing Angola's leftist faction at the rate of almost one a day since November, and American officials indicate the United States also has taken a small step in that direction.

Officials said the State Department has notified Gulf Oil Corp. it has no objection to a resumption of Gulf operations in Angola. Gulf's efforts to develop an Angolan oil industry were suspended in December when the outcome of the civil war there was still in doubt.

According to one qualified official, it is a "fairly accurate assumption" that this is the first move toward eventual U.S. diplomatic dealings with Angola's Soviet-backed Popular Movement.

Driver Permit Bill Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans whose drivers licenses were suspended for drunken driving could be permitted to drive to and from work with special permit cards under a bill now half way through the legislature.

The Senate approved 27-3 Tuesday the measure allowing judges to issue the special cards if they determine that the suspended driver might be in danger of losing his job.

Cards also could be issued to persons responsible for refusing to take alcohol blood tests upon arrest, and to those convicted of driving under the influence of drugs.

The cards could be issued only to first offenders.

Sen. M. Ben Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, was among opponents, saying he feared the legislation, which now goes to the House, represents "the start of an erosion" of Ohio's tough laws against drunken driving.

Two other Senate measures went to the lower chamber without dissent. They designate Interstate 70 from Bridgeport to the Indiana line as "Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Highway," and provide for having juveniles in state custody subpoenaed to testify at trials.

Service Is Key Word At Health Department

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article is a public information project of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce and was prepared by the Health Committee.

Service is the key word when one examines the lengthy list of contributions to citizens by the Pickaway County Health Department. The organization is headquartered at 705 S. Court St. with a staff of 10 supervised by Leo N. Kahanek and governed by the Board of Health with Dr. Frank Moore as commissioner.

When interviewing these two individuals, it was apparent that all possible advantages are offered to the public who seek assistance from them and that many programs have been created to fulfill needs that have arisen, many of which have been brought about by a mobile society, industrial crises and an apparent diminishing of earthly space to serve a fast growing population.

The city's health work is now done on a contractural basis by the county health department and funds from the state, licenses, fees, city contracts and advisory council make possible the work constantly being carried on.

The insight and cooperation of community leaders, agencies and board was mentioned by Dr. Moore as being extremely enhancing to the department's development and it's ability to fulfill new community needs.

Mr. Kahanek reports a multitude of services rendered, many of which the general public is not aware that has been continually carried on for some time and by which we have benefited. Of the many, the following are just a few: Well-child clinics, school vision screening, immunization programs, pediatric otological clinics, pre-school immunization, TB screening for school and industry, lung disease treatment clinic, nursing referral service for the handicapped, VD clinics, prenatal clinics, sight saver funds, anti-rabies treatments, and rheumatic fever medication programs.

The environmental sanitation program itself was responsible for 1945 inspections during 1975.

The concentrated efforts of the department are reflected in the more than tripled budget during the last seven years. The eyeglass fund for very needy youngsters who are tremendously handicapped relatively to vision problems is a favorite interest of Mr. Kahanek's and he welcomes all contributions, large or small to this fund which never seems to be currently adequate for the need.

As with any modern department dedicated to community service, an eye to the future is not only a must but indicates their progressive attitude. This idea is well served as a list of timely and relevant topics comprises the agenda for investigation and discussion for the benefit of the city and county. High on the list of priorities would be minimum housing standards and a solution to the refuse problem and county landfill.

As the subject is discussed by those investigating the problem, it is not difficult to foresee the multitude of health-oriented problems in our not too distant future. On tap also, is a diabetic hypertension free clinic scheduled for March and April, the everpresent sight saver fund for glasses, expanded child vision screening, discussions with school officials relative to school nursing and health service, and upgrading of home sewage regulations and a restaurant grading system on a positive basis to encourage cleanliness.

The staff at 705 S. Court is constantly fielding questions by phone and by individuals coming in relative to their problems, the continual scheduling of services, clinics, investigations, screenings, inspections, indicate a department well on top of the city and county health problems, needs and potential future requirements.

Brown Visits Buddhist Retreats

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. occasionally visits a Trappist monastery or Zen Buddhist retreat "just to get away from all the nonsense for a while," Reader's Digest says.

The 37-year-old Democratic governor is profiled in the magazine's March issue as a politician whose goal is to look skeptically at everything the state does.

"The truth is I'm cheap. I don't like spending my money or anybody else's," the magazine quoted Brown as describing his conservative fiscal policies.

The concentrated efforts of the department are reflected in the more than tripled budget during the last seven years. The eyeglass fund for very needy youngsters who are tremendously handicapped relatively to vision problems is a favorite interest of Mr. Kahanek's and he welcomes all contributions, large or small to this fund which never seems to be currently adequate for the need.

As with any modern department dedicated to community service, an eye to the future is not only a must but indicates their progressive attitude. This idea is well served as a list of timely and relevant topics comprises the agenda for investigation and discussion for the benefit of the city and county. High on the list of priorities would be minimum housing standards and a solution to the refuse problem and county landfill.

As the subject is discussed by those investigating the problem, it is not difficult to foresee the multitude of health-oriented problems in our not too distant future. On tap also, is a diabetic hypertension free clinic scheduled for March and April, the everpresent sight saver fund for glasses, expanded child vision screening, discussions with school officials relative to school nursing and health service, and upgrading of home sewage regulations and a restaurant grading system on a positive basis to encourage cleanliness.

The staff at 705 S. Court is constantly fielding questions by phone and by individuals coming in relative to their problems, the continual scheduling of services, clinics, investigations, screenings, inspections, indicate a department well on top of the city and county health problems, needs and potential future requirements.

Brown Visits Buddhist Retreats

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. occasionally visits a Trappist monastery or Zen Buddhist retreat "just to get away from all the nonsense for a while," Reader's Digest says.

The 37-year-old Democratic governor is profiled in the magazine's March issue as a politician whose goal is to look skeptically at everything the state does.

"The truth is I'm cheap. I don't like spending my money or anybody else's," the magazine quoted Brown as describing his conservative fiscal policies.

Assembly Finally Overrides Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It took them 14 months to do it, but majority Democrats in the legislature have put a new law into Ohio's statute books over the objections of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Last week, the House voted 70-22 to override the governor's veto of a bill that calls for a new commission to study conditions in the state's more than 1,000 nursing homes.

Tuesday, in the Senate, voting along strict party lines (Democrats had picked up 14 GOP mavericks in the House), Democrats prevailed 20-10 on the same question. The bill, which becomes effective in 90 days, needed exactly 20 votes for the three-fifths majority required to override a veto.

It was the first time in nearly 15 years that any governor has been overridden by the legislature. The last time was July 31, 1961, after former Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle vetoed a bill providing certain exemptions from the sales tax.

Three senators were absent from Monday's roll call. They were Sens. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, and Walter L. White, R-12 Lima.

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, who switched from initial support of the measure to back Rhodes' veto, called the override "a vain act." He pointed out that funds to establish the 11-member Nursing Home Advisory Commission have not been appropriated.

"I assume this commission is going to be appointed and given its responsibilities, but it won't have any money and won't accomplish anything," he said.

However, Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, responded that "the kind of money we're talking about ($300,000) won't be a problem to find."

The bill establishes a commission that will include four legislators—two from each party—along with the directors of health and public welfare; the director of the commission on aging, two representatives of the nursing home industry, and two representing the general public, to be appointed by the governor.

The commission will be empowered to hold hearings around the state to look into nursing home problems that include patient care, compliance with health and safety regulations, licensing procedures and funding.

Meshel noted that the measure makes "a contingency appropriation" of $300,000 and authorizes the controlling board to release that amount from state emergency funds. Democrats dominate the board 4-3, with Meshel as one of its Democratic members.

Ohio's springlike weather continued today and is expected to last through the weekend.

Today's readings soared into the 60s, approaching record levels in some locations, under the influence of a high pressure system off the Carolina coast pushing warm southwesterly winds across the Ohio Valley to the Great Lakes.

A low pressure area and weak cold front stretching from Minnesota to Oklahoma was expected to move slowly eastward, giving Ohio a slight chance of showers Thursday, along with slightly cooler temperatures.

However, fair weather is seen for Friday with temperatures above normal through the weekend.

Extended Outlook For Ohio Friday Through Sunday

Fair Friday and Saturday. Chance of rain on Sunday. Highs Friday in the 40s north to the 50s south, and by Sunday in the upper 40s north to near 60 south. Lows in the 30s to mid 40s.

Flax To Seek Gradison's Seat

CINCINNATI (AP) — Conservative William Flax has challenged U.S. Rep. Willis D. Gradison Jr., R-Ohio, for the third time announcing he will seek the nomination from the First Congressional District in the primary.

Flax said he had considered running in November as an independent but "I don't want to hurt the Republican chances."

Flax, 41, was defeated by Gradison in a special primary in 1973 after U.S. Rep. William Keating, R-Ohio, resigned to become president of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Northwest Ordinance Landmark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the major problems before Congress after the Revolutionary War was how to govern the northwest wilderness. The answer was adoption of the Northwest Territory Ordinance on July 13, 1787.

The famed ordinance, out of which came the State of Ohio, was drafted before the U.S. Constitution was approved Feb. 7, 1788.

It was D. Webster who said many years later: "We are accustomed to praise the lawgivers of antiquity; we help to perpetuate the fame of Solon and Lycurgus, but I doubt whether one single law of any lawgiver, ancient or modern, has produced effects more distinct, marked and lasting character than the Ordinance of 1787."

In addition to providing a system of government with a governor and judges, it provided principles for the territory it created, and these rank with the Declaration of Independence. They appear in the U.S. Constitution, then being formed.

The ordinance called for freedom of worship, trial by jury and encouragement of education; it decided that the region should always be a part of the United States, that it should be divided into from three to five states when certain requirements were met, and that slavery should never be permitted there.

Out of the territory the states of Ohio, then Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and part of Minnesota were formed.

On April 21, 1962, the Seattle, Wash., World's Fair was opened by remote control when President Kennedy pressed a gold key at Miami, Fla.

Natural Gas Bill Up For Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gas companies would not be allowed to charge residential customers for short term emergency gas supplies destined for industrial users under a bill headed for House floor action.

The legislation was approved 11-2 Tuesday by the House Insurance, Utilities and Financial Institutions Committee. Sponsor Mike Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, said he would seek prompt action on the House floor.

The bill is an outgrowth of the controversy over an attempt by Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc. to force its residential customers to share in the cost of high-priced emergency gas purchased on the unregulated market for industrial and commercial customers.

Columbia is currently under a temporary restraining order from the Franklin County Common Pleas Court forbidding the pass through of costs to residential consumers, pending a March 2 hearing.

Stinziano's bill would make the prohibition permanent and would also directly affect Dayton Power and Light Co., East Ohio Gas Co. and West Ohio Gas Co. which have billing plans similar to Columbia's. The legislation stipulates that only industrial and commercial customers could be charged for emergency gas purchased for a short term period, such as the winter heating season.

James Fullen, an attorney representing Columbia, warned the committee that the measure could price gas out of the market for industry and force manufacturers to seek other fuel sources.

"We will reach a point in time when all of the cost of the gas will fall on the residential customers," he said.

Another opponent, Sheldon Taft of the Ohio Manufacturers Association, said the bill would "create a favored class of residential customer" benefiting from low cost gas heating while others face mounting costs for electric and fuel oil heat.

Columbia officials, arguing that the gas will benefit all customers in the long run, received permission earlier this month from the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to begin the across-the-board billing. The utility estimated it would add 75 cents to $1 to residential bills.

The gas, purchased from southwestern dealers, is expected to stave off the sharp curtailments that were projected for industry over the winter months.

The utilities committee also recommended floor action on a bill that would require a public hearing on all contracts and rates proposed by Blue Cross and other hospital service associations.

If approved by House members, both bills would still face Senate scrutiny before going to Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Prairie Fires Hit Kansas Heavy Blow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Prairie fires have swept across thousands of acres of dry grasslands in the Flint Hills pasture country of east central Kansas.

Two of the total of seven fires that began Tuesday burned overnight, one near the Fall River Reservoir and the other north of Eureka.

Sam Mills, assistant police chief at Eureka, said the fire near the reservoir appeared to be the worst of the two.

"We've got eight fire units there now but they're not making any headway," he reported Tuesday night. "We're shifting our units in the north end down to the south to fight it."

No injuries were reported. Hundreds of volunteers joined at least nine fire departments from area communities and National Guard units in fighting the fires which were spread by winds with gusts up to 50 miles an hour.

In the Pacific Northwest, travel advisories for locally heavy snow and blowing snow were posted in the Oregon Cascade and Siskiyou Mountains.

Elsewhere, thundershowers soaked southern Florida, while snow flurries blew along the east slopes of the central Rockies.

Temperatures overnight ranged from 66 at Miami and St. Petersburg, Fla., to 17 at Alamosa, Colo.

Find Crude Bomb In High School

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fire officials say a crude bomb discovered Monday in Franklin Heights High School wouldn't have done much damage if it had exploded.

The bomb, fashioned from smokeless powder, a hollowedout highway flare, an alarm clock and battery, had a faulty timing device connection, according to the Franklin County sheriff's department.

It was found by a student under a second-floor water heater and dismantled by the bomb squad. A fire department spokesman said the device "probably wouldn't have caused a large blast; it would have flashed and made noise."

Sheriff's juvenile officers were investigating the incident.

Assembly Finally Overrides Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It took them 14 months to do it, but majority Democrats in the legislature have put a new law into Ohio's statute books over the objections of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Last week, the House voted 70-22 to override the governor's veto of a bill that calls for a new commission to study conditions in the state's more than 1,000 nursing homes.

Tuesday, in the Senate, voting along strict party lines (Democrats had picked up 14 GOP mavericks in the House), Democrats prevailed 20-10 on the same question. The bill, which becomes effective in 90 days, needed exactly 20 votes for the three-fifths majority required to override a veto.

It was the first time in nearly 15 years that any governor has been overridden by the legislature. The last time was July 31, 1961, after former Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle vetoed a bill providing certain exemptions from the sales tax.

Three senators were absent from Monday's roll call. They were Sens. Douglas Applegate, D-30 Steubenville, William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, and Walter L. White, R-12 Lima.

Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, who switched from initial support of the measure to back Rhodes' veto, called the override "a vain act." He pointed out that funds to establish the 11-member Nursing Home Advisory Commission have not been appropriated.

"I assume this commission is going to be appointed and given its responsibilities, but it won't have any money and won't accomplish anything," he said.

However, Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, responded that "the kind of money we're talking about ($300,000) won't be a problem to find."

The bill establishes a commission that will include four legislators—two from each party—along with the directors of health and public welfare; the director of the commission on aging, two representatives of the nursing home industry, and two representing the general public, to be appointed by the governor.

The commission will be empowered to hold hearings around the state to look into nursing home problems that include patient care, compliance with health and safety regulations, licensing procedures and funding.

Meshel noted that the measure makes "a contingency appropriation" of $300,000 and authorizes the controlling board to release that amount from state emergency funds. Democrats dominate the board 4-3, with Meshel as one of its Democratic members.

Ohio's springlike weather continued today and is expected to last through the weekend.

Today's readings soared into the 60s, approaching record levels in some locations, under the influence of a high pressure system off the Carolina coast pushing warm southwesterly winds across the Ohio Valley to the Great Lakes.

A low pressure area and weak cold front stretching from Minnesota to Oklahoma was expected to move slowly eastward, giving Ohio a slight chance of showers Thursday, along with slightly cooler temperatures.

However, fair weather is seen for Friday with temperatures above normal through the weekend.

Flax To Seek Gradison's Seat

CINCINNATI (AP) — Conservative William Flax has challenged U.S. Rep. Willis D. Gradison Jr., R-Ohio, for the third time announcing he will seek the nomination from the First Congressional District in the primary.

Flax said he had considered running in November as an independent but "I don't want to hurt the Republican chances."

Flax, 41, was defeated by Gradison in a special primary in 1973 after U.S. Rep. William Keating, R-Ohio, resigned to become president of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Northwest Ordinance Landmark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the major problems before Congress after the Revolutionary War was how to govern the northwest wilderness. The answer was adoption of the Northwest Territory Ordinance on July 13, 1787.

The famed ordinance, out of which came the State of Ohio, was drafted before the U.S. Constitution was approved Feb. 7, 1788.

It was D. Webster who said many years later: "We are accustomed to praise the lawgivers of antiquity; we help to perpetuate the fame of Solon and Lycurgus, but I doubt whether one single law of any lawgiver, ancient or modern, has produced effects more distinct, marked and lasting character than the Ordinance of 1787."

In addition to providing a system of government with a governor and judges, it provided principles for the territory it created, and these rank with the Declaration of Independence. They appear in the U.S. Constitution, then being formed.

The ordinance called for freedom of worship, trial by jury and encouragement of education; it decided that the region should always be a part of the United States, that it should be divided into from three to five states when certain requirements were met, and that slavery should never be permitted there.

Out of the territory the states of Ohio, then Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and part of Minnesota were formed.

On April 21, 1962, the Seattle, Wash., World's Fair was opened by remote control when President Kennedy pressed a gold key at Miami, Fla.

Natural Gas Bill Up For Vote

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gas companies would not be allowed to charge residential customers for short term emergency gas supplies destined for industrial users under a bill headed for House floor action.

The legislation was approved 11-2 Tuesday by the House Insurance, Utilities and Financial Institutions Committee. Sponsor Mike Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, said he would seek prompt action on the House floor.

The bill is an outgrowth of the controversy over an attempt by Columbia Gas of Ohio Inc. to force its residential customers to share in the cost of high-priced emergency gas purchased on the unregulated market for industrial and commercial customers.

Columbia is currently under a temporary restraining order from the Franklin County Common Pleas Court forbidding the pass through of costs to residential consumers, pending a March 2 hearing.

Stinziano's bill would make the prohibition permanent and would also directly affect Dayton Power and Light Co., East Ohio Gas Co. and West Ohio Gas Co. which have billing plans similar to Columbia's. The legislation stipulates that only industrial and commercial customers could be charged for emergency gas purchased for a short term period, such as the winter heating season.

James Fullen, an attorney representing Columbia, warned the committee that the measure could price gas out of the market for industry and force manufacturers to seek other fuel sources.

"We will reach a point in time when all of the cost of the gas will fall on the residential customers," he said.

Another opponent, Sheldon Taft of the Ohio Manufacturers Association, said the bill would "create a favored class of residential customer" benefiting from low cost gas heating while others face mounting costs for electric and fuel oil heat.

The gas, purchased from southwestern dealers, is expected to stave off the sharp curtailments that were projected for industry over the winter months.

The utilities committee also recommended floor action on a bill that would require a public hearing on all contracts and rates proposed by Blue Cross and other hospital service associations.

If approved by House members, both bills would still face Senate scrutiny before going to Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Woman, 107, Awaits Bicentennial Bash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mary Walter admits she's "getting older" and her memory is faltering, but she recalls "there was a lot of excitement" over the nation's centennial in 1876.

And Mrs. Walter, who celebrates her 108th birthday in March, plans to observe the bicentennial this year by casting her second presidential vote.

She figures she needs a second chance since, when she voted for president for the first time in 1972 at the age of 104, she marked her ballot for Richard Nixon.

"That's what makes me mad," Mrs. Walter said. "It was the first time I voted and it went wrong."

Mrs. Walter, resident of a suburban Grove City nursing home for seven years, vaguely recalls the celebration of the nation's centennial but can't remember any details.

"I've just started to forget things," Mrs. Walter said. "I'm getting older."

As a young woman, she worked a year without pay as an apprentice seamstress and then got a job at $4.50 a week. When she was 20, she sewed stars on American flags for a Columbus regalia company.

She said her sister, Julia Eckert, who died in 1965 at the age of 107, told of being outside the Statehouse when President Lincoln's body lay in state there in 1865.

Mrs. Walter looks back on her long life as one in which she "sewed, got married and kept house."

She says she has enjoyed good health. "I've never been real sick and I'm not now," she declared.

At the age of 95 she suffered a broken hip. At 100 she underwent major surgery and was out of the hospital in two weeks. Two years later she suffered a broken hand.

In 1846, bituminous coal was introduced in Ohio as a furnace fuel at Lowellville in Mahoning County, an event of prime importance to the development of the iron industry of the state and county.

Air Fare Measure Mixed Blessing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation pending in Congress to give airlines new freedom to raise and lower fares could cut the cost of air travel in half during off-peak hours on routes between 60 major cities, a report prepared for the Department of Transportation concludes.

However, the legislation might also result in higher air fares or less service on routes to small cities, the report found.

The report, prepared by the private consulting firm of Simat, Helliesen and Eichner, reaches the same basic conclusions on the effects of decreased federal regulation as a recent Senate subcommittee report. Both studies are expected to give new impetus to the Ford administration's drive to give the nation's airlines more freedom to raise and lower fares and to start and stop service.

The consulting firm report, released Tuesday, said three intrastate airlines not regulated by the government make profits while offering fares far below those of interstate airlines regulated by the Civil Aeronautics Board. The three airlines were Southwest Airlines in Texas, and Pacific Southwest and Air California in California.

The report said the intrastate airlines were able to offer lower fares than airlines regulated by the CAB because state regulations penalize inefficient operations while federal regulations do not.

Fares approved by the CAB are set high enough to cover the average cost of all airlines flying the route, the report said. In contrast, the California and Texas fares are set high enough only to cover the cost of the most efficient airline flying the route, thus putting pressure on all airlines to become as efficient.

Southwest uses a two-tiered fare. For example, higher rates are charged between Dallas and Houston during peak business periods with a lower fare during slack periods and on weekends. This has led to a massive increase in air travel between cities served by Southwest, particularly by those who use off-peak fares, the report found.

As to the effect of deregulation on air service to small towns, the report said the predicted adverse impact could occur because lowering the cost of air service on major routes would keep airlines from using profits from those routes to subsidize unprofitable routes.

However, the study and Department of Transportation officials said any adverse effect likely would be small and limited to few routes.

Fares approved by the CAB are set high enough to cover the average cost of all airlines flying the route, the report said. In contrast, the California and Texas fares are set high enough only to cover the cost of the most efficient airline flying the route, thus putting pressure on all airlines to become as efficient.

Southwest uses a two-tiered fare. For example, higher rates are charged between Dallas and Houston during peak business periods with a lower fare during slack periods and on weekends. This has led to a massive increase in air travel between cities served by Southwest, particularly by those who use off-peak fares, the report found.

As to the effect of deregulation on air service to small towns, the report said the predicted adverse impact could occur because lowering the cost of air service on major routes would keep airlines from using profits from those routes to subsidize unprofitable routes.

However, the study and Department of Transportation officials said any adverse effect likely would be small and limited to few routes.

FORD LOOK-ALIKE — Maynard Matz, a former resident of Circleville who is presently the Ft. Myers, Fla., city clerk, was frequently mistaken for President Gerald Ford during a recent trip by the president to Florida. Matz met President Ford whose comment was, "I pity you for looking like me." He is married to the former Alice Huffer.

Firm To Aid Rate Hike Foes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William J. Brown has hired a Washington consulting firm to help Ohio homeowners fight a $50.7 million rate hike application by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The state Controlling Board approved the $100,000 contract Monday between the attorney general and the firm of Van Scoyoc and Wiskup of Washington, D.C.

The application to the board said special knowledge is needed in such areas as accounting, engineering and economics to properly make a case before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

"The attorney general does not employ such experts," it said. "The Van Scoyoc and Wiskup firm will provide the services of the five people to assist in analyzing the utility's case."

"No public utility consulting firms in Ohio...have developed the necessary expertise to handle a case of this magnitude," the attorney general said.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Michael R. Szolosi, chief of the attorney general's special litigation section, said the firm would allow the attorney general to thoroughly explore evidence in the case.

Szolosi said that of five intervenors in the rate case, consumers are the only group which to this point have not had full representation.

He said the other four all have interests which to some extent conflict with those of consumers. The other intervenors are the City of Columbus, the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, General Motors and Sears.

Szolosi said the Coalition of Concerned Utilities Users, a consumer group, has a lawyer, but cannot afford a full presentation before the PUCO.

He said consumers must have both legal representation and expert technical advice in order to properly protect their interests.

Szolosi said the $100,000 is a maximum cost for the consulting services. He said the attorney general hopes to hold the cost to $75,000.

In other action Monday, the board:

—Deferred for two weeks a decision on spending $5,000 to hire Dr. William C. Sze to help the state welfare department establish a Vietnamese Resettlement Office.

The board put off the decision when a lawyer for existing volunteer organizations said the state had not attempted to coordinate its new program with existing programs.

—Approved a $3,084 contract with Studio 100 of Columbus to renovate one of the historical cannons on the Statehouse lawn.

—Approved a $3,000 contract between the Department of Economic and Community Development and the Battelle Memorial Institute to prepare a list of European firms with growth potential which might be attracted to Ohio.

—Approved release of about $419,000 in Mental Health and Mental Retardation funds for repair, renovation or construction projects at Apple Creek State Institute, Longview State Hospital, Broadview Center, Cleveland Developmental Center, Columbus State Hospital and Dayton Mental Health Center.

—Approved release of $448,100 to the natural resources department to assist persons displaced by state land acquisitions.

—Deferred for two weeks action on four personal services contracts initiated by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Three of those covered by the contracts are to work on the River Basin Water Quality Development Planning Project, while one is to assist state agencies in developing area waste treatment management plans.

The board said it would defer action for legal advice on the eligibility of such workers for state fringe benefits.

SSI Overpayments Said Serious

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Social Security administration made overpayments of $197 million to the nation's elderly, blind and disabled in the first six months of a new distribution system, an independent audit report maintains.

A large share of the overpayment by the Supplemental Security Income program is claimed by 31 states which have their own state social security programs. The states plan to use the report as a basis for recovering their money.

"The negotiations are going to be interesting," said Louisiana's legislative auditor, Joe Burris, who released a copy of the report Monday.

The Washington Star last August reported that overpayments amounted to $403 million during the program's first 18 months of operation, beginning Jan. 1, 1974. It blamed the mistakes on computer errors.

At the time, Social Security administrators took issue with the Star's report of $403 million, but acknowledged there had been $285 million in overpayments that caseworkers were trying to recover.

The Social Security Administration once sent funds to each of the 31 states for distribution. The states, in turn, sent each recipient one check composed of both state and federal funds.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1974, the administration began distributing all the checks, billing the 31 states for their shares.

The most recent report was drafted by a surveillance committee composed of auditors from seven of the states and was based on an audit of the Social Security Administration by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The HEW audit, which covers only the first six months of the program, has not been completed.

The committee report said the HEW audit has disclosed serious deficiencies in internal controls exercised by SSA officials as well as disclosure of hundreds of errors in the checks to recipients.

The report did not include any specific examples.

"Many of these deficiencies continue to exist," said the report. "They undoubtedly have affected the accuracy of benefit payments for fiscal years 1975 and 1976."

The audit has discovered errors in over 50 per cent of the payment records checked, said the report.

Here is a brakdown of overpayments discovered in the states involved:

Arkansas $2.9 million, California $49.6 million, Delaware $348,000, District of Columbia $1 million, Florida $7.6 million, Georgia $8.5 million, Hawaii $688,000, Illinois $13.1 million, Indiana $2.1 million, Iowa $1.4 million, Kansas $314,000, Louisiana $7.7 million, Maine $1 million.

Maryland $3.6 million, Massachusetts $13.4 million, Michigan $7.8 million, Minnesota $3.4 million, Montana $629,000, Nevada $376,000, New Jersey $4.2 million, New York $30.2 million, Ohio $5.2 million, Pennsylvania $12.1 million, Rhode Island $1 million, South Carolina $1.4 million.

South Dakota $31,000, Tennessee $8.4 million, Utah $406,000, Washington $3.8 million, Wisconsin $3.6 million, Wyoming $111,000.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Scared Off By 'Good Girl'

DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive, natural blonde who was raised by strict parents. I love the Lord and have been saved.

I've dated quite a lot, but I never let a man get too close to me because I wanted to keep my virginity for my husband.

Five months ago, I met a 29-year-old man to whom I was attracted like I couldn't believe was possible. One thing led to another, and I finally told him I was a virgin.

He said that I was "one in a million," which I took as a compliment, but he never called me after that. Thinking maybe he was sick, I called him. He sounded rather cool and distant, and said he had been busy with his work and would call me soon.

Well, it's been a month and he hasn't called. I really care for him, Abby, and I'm afraid my virginity has scared him off. Perhaps he thinks I'm abnormal to be a virgin at 27. Now, instead of being proud of myself, I feel like an overlooked wallflower.

I'm considering going to a gynecologist and asking him to surgically deflower me. Do you think he would do it?

CAROLINA VIRGIN

DEAR VIRGIN: Probably, but since a virgin is someone who has never experienced sexual relations, it wouldn't alter your status as a virgin.

The advice from here is to stay as you are and be proud of it. And if you "scared him off" for that reason, you haven't lost much.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding what to say when confronted with a baby or a picture of one who is obviously very homely, yet whose parents clearly expect a compliment:

A doctor friend once told me that when he delivers a homely or-might as well say it-very ugly baby, and the parent(s) look at him expectantly for some kind of word of praise, he simply grins broadly and says, "Now, there's a REAL boy (or girl)!"

Obviously, it's not a crocodile or platpus, so the doctor hasn't been dishonest and the parents are satisfied.

TOM IN OKLAHOMA CITY

DEAR TOM: Beautiful. But occasionally the doctor is mistaken.

DEAR ABBY: Ever time I say, "I love you" to my girlfriend, she says, "Thank you." She never tells me that she loves ME, and that is what I want to hear.

Any suggestions?

Police Investigate Dog Theft Attempt

Circleville Police are looking for a man who attacked a dog, possibly with the intent to steal the animal.

Beverly Thompson, 551 E. Mound St., told officers that a man was spotted in the alley near her home 7:30 p.m. Saturday shining a flashlight at her pet Labrador Retriever.

The man fled when Ms. Thompson went to inspect the dog, which was treated at a veterinarian after it appeared that the animal, valued at $1,000, by the owner had been injured with some kind of object.

The 1896 presidential campaign was known as "the front porch campaign" because of the way in which William McKinley made his election fight, speaking from the front porch of his home in Canton, Ohio.

Bill Aimed At Glue Sniffing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Admitted glue sniffers asked the Senate Judiciary Committee on Tuesday to approve a bill that requires manufacturers to add illness-inducing substances to their products.

One witness, Robert Allen Edge Jr., 26, Cleveland, said he had been sniffing glue since he was 13 and had become physically dependent on it.

"I lost my home and my family, and if this is going to help just one young boy, I hope you will pass it," Edge told the committee.

He said he was discharged "just yesterday from a VA hospital. They told me there was nothing they could do to help me."

Edge said he began sniffing Tester's glue—a widely available product used to assemble model airplanes—and went on to other types in later years. "I became physically dependent," he said.

Larry Bresler of Cleveland, a Program Outreach worker and former probation officer, said his work with young people convinced him that sniffing "is a major problem, especially in the inner city."

He showed a paper bag full of glue products which he said are sold almost everywhere by some merchants "who know why the kids are buying the stuff."

Among the products were Tester's glue, ignition spray, white plastic rubber, spray enamel, nail polish remover, and the chemical toluene—described as being present in almost all products used for sniffing. The sniffing is usually done from a soaked rag in a plastic bag. "It doesn't give the kids the greatest of highs, but it's certainly the cheapest," he said.

James E. Martin, 21, of Cleveland, said he started sniffing when he was 12, and continued it for five years. "I've been off it for four years, but it's not easy even now," Martin said, explaining that he became involved "probably because of peer pressures."

Ruby McGowan, also of Cleveland, urged the bill's passage on behalf "of all the mothers." She said two of her sons became involved. "One got so bad he had to be sent away. The other, my oldest son, switched from glue to alcohol."

The pending measure, sponsored by Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, specifically prohibits the sale of harmful intoxicants to minors when there is "reason to believe the intoxicant will be abused ... and the sale of glue, plastic cement, or similar adhesive products in a package of less than four ounces unless it contains a noxious additive as prescribed by the board of pharmacy."

The bill was carried over for further hearings.

Chrysler Reports Turnaround

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. turned an operating profit for the first time in 15 months with an unexpectedly strong performance in the fourth quarter of 1975. But the firm still ended the year with a record $259.5-million loss.

The loss reported Tuesday by Chrysler, severely battered by the auto industry's two-year recession, also was the steepest by a U.S. auto company in history.

General Motors Corp., which saw its profits early in 1975 slip to a 29-year low, reported a fourth-quarter profit of $618 million, a 22 per cent gain from the year before and the second best fourth-quarter in the company's history.

Ford Motor Co., which started 1975 with its first loss for a initial quarter in its public history, reported net profits of $170 million in the final quarter, a 673 per cent jump from the year before.

American Motors Corp. logged profits of $7.5 million for the final three months of 1975, compared with a $5.6-million loss in the same year-earlier period.

Chrysler has lost $311.6 million in the past two years, including $52.1 million in 1974.

However, financial analysts said they were highly encouraged by the firm's ability to turn an operating profit in the final quarter of the year, saying it was another strong sign of the industry's solid recovery from its worst slump since the Great Depression.

Enter Compact For Joint Service

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state Welfare Department and the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) have entered into a compact for cooperative effort in providing services.

State Welfare Director Raymond McKenna and Paul Lydens, director of the Ohio HUD office, said in a joint statement the purpose of the compact is to eliminate duplication of effort while expediting and improving delivery of services.

Marianas Next U.S. Territory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 14 Mariana Islands in the Pacific will become the first new U.S. territory in 51 years under legislation nearing final congressional approval.

The commonwealth covenant extending U.S. citizenship to 14,000 island residents was approved by the Senate on Tuesday, 66 to 23. The House passed a slightly different resolution last July 21.

All that remains is for differences to be resolved, probably in a House-Senate conference.

The Senate resolution lacked House-approved authorization for the president to extend federal aid grants and loan programs to the Marianas and other U.S. offshore territories.

The Marianas, located north of Guam some 5,400 miles west of San Francisco, are part of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands. The Trust Territory, which includes the Marshall and Caroline islands, has been administered by the United States since 1947 under a trust agreement with the United Nations.

The commonwealth covenant, negotiated over two years, was approved by Marianas residents by a 78.8 per cent margin in a plebiscite last June 17 in which 95 per cent of eligible voters participated.

Opposing the resolution in Senate debate, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, DMont., said territorial expansion is "a very serious step," accomplished in this case by "enticement."

The covenant provides for a $14-million U.S. contribution each year for at least seven years for economic development and local budgetary support. U.S. income tax money would be retained in the islands.

The United States, in return, would have the option of leasing areas on Saipan, Tinian and Farallon de Medinilla islands for 100 years for a $19.5-million payment. All three are part of the Marianas.

"It will be the most expensive commonwealth this country has ever declared," Mansfield warned the Senate.

The United States has a major naval base on Guam, the southernmost Marianas island. Guam was annexed to the United States in 1898.

Records indicate that the last U.S. territorial acquisition was the annexation of Swains Island to American Samoa in 1925. The United States purchased the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1917.

Under commonwealth status, Mariana Islands residents would draft a constitution, including a bill of rights, elect a governor and legislature and establish a judiciary. They could not vote for president of the United States or have representatives in Congress.

SIGNS OF SPRING — Sparked by the recent warm weather, crocuses have begun to make their appearance in Pickaway County. However, after a high Tuesday of 67 and high today expected to reach the upper 60s, long-range outlook is more cold weather before Spring arrives.

Chrysler Reports Turnaround

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. turned an operating profit for the first time in 15 months with an unexpectedly strong performance in the fourth quarter of 1975. But the firm still ended the year with a record $259.5-million loss.

The loss reported Tuesday by Chrysler, severely battered by the auto industry's two-year recession, also was the steepest by a U.S. auto company in history.

General Motors Corp., which saw its profits early in 1975 slip to a 29-year low, reported a fourth-quarter profit of $618 million, a 22 per cent gain from the year before and the second best fourth-quarter in the company's history.

Ford Motor Co., which started 1975 with its first loss for a initial quarter in its public history, reported net profits of $170 million in the final quarter, a 673 per cent jump from the year before.

American Motors Corp. logged profits of $7.5 million for the final three months of 1975, compared with a $5.6-million loss in the same year-earlier period.

Chrysler has lost $311.6 million in the past two years, including $52.1 million in 1974.

However, financial analysts said they were highly encouraged by the firm's ability to turn an operating profit in the final quarter of the year, saying it was another strong sign of the industry's solid recovery from its worst slump since the Great Depression.

Tar Heels Win AC Crown

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

North Carolina's basketball team either beats you into submission, or bores you to death. In either case, the Tar Heels manage to win.

Tuesday night was time for one of those notorious four-corner delays, a North Carolina specialty that puts the opposition into a deep freeze and the crowd to sleep.

The means justified the end as usual, and the boys in Carolina blue defeated North Carolina State 91-79 to win the Atlantic Coast Conference's regular-season championship.

"We can beat them," snickered the Wolfpack's Kenny Carr. "They're just a bunch of foul shooters."

But that's the point.

The Tar Heels sit on a lead as well as anybody in the country and while playing catch on the perimeter of their half of the court, dare the opposition to foul them. Then, someone like Phil Ford makes 16 shots in a row — like he did Tuesday night.

"I was extremely pleased with this team," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. "But our goal is winning the (ACC) tournament. You notice that we scored well from the four corners' offense — and I did say offense."

The tactic might have beaten him but didn't impress North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan. In fact he preferred to talk about his own offense, particularly Carr, who scored 33 points.

"If there's a better one than Carr, name him," Sloan said. "Let's play one-on-one and I'll bet my coliseum against North Carolina's."

While North Carolina was winning the ACC, Texas A&M was tying a rope around the Southwest Conference championship. The No. 20 Aggies, only other ranked team in action Tuesday night, beat Rice 98-67 to clinch at least a tie for the SWC crown.

Elsewhere, Army beat Merrimack 84-73; VMI ripped Central Wesleyan 85-48; Canisius stymied St. Joseph's, Pa., 77-71; Northeast Louisiana whipped Lamar 90-67; Providence walloped Rhode Island 85-66; Houston nipped SMU 100-98; Arkansas routed Baylor 86-64 and Fairfield outscored Iona 87-62.

Ray Roberts scored 22 points to lead Texas A&M over Rice for the Aggies' second straight Southwest Conference basketball title. The victory, which ended Texas A&M's second straight 20-victory season, gave Coach Shelby Metcalf his fourth SWC title in his 13 years at A&M.

Fairmont State Now Poll Leader

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alcorn State, stunned 96-82 by Southern for only its second loss of the season, tumbled from the top of The Associated Press college division basketball rankings and was replaced by unbeaten Fairmont State.

The Braves, 24-2, skidded to third behind the front-running Falcons, 24-0, and Grand Canyon, 20-2. Fairmont State, with three victories for the week ending Sunday, received 21 first-place votes and 309 points in a poll of a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Grand Canyon, 20-2 after two triumphs last week, received two No. 1 votes and 228 points. Alcorn State had four No. 1 votes and 216 points in the tally released Tuesday.

Gardner-Webb, 23-3, held on to fourth place with one No. 1 vote and 204 points. But Tennessee State, No. 5 last week, skidded to 11th after two loses during the week. Taking over in fifth was Kentucky State, 20-4, a three-time victor last week. The Thorobreds received 163 points.

Marymount, 23-3, also moved up one place to sixth with 120 points followed by Nicholls State, 20-3, up from ninth place with 87 points. Philadelphia Textile, 15th last week, leaped into a share of eighth place with Rollins, which was alone there last week. The Rams, 23-0, and the Tars, 18-4, each received 79 points, including one first-place vote for Philadelphia Textile.

Shepherd, 28-1 after three victories last week including a 112-63 rout of Strayer, remained 10th with 75 points. Tennessee State, 18-5, and Cheyney State, 22-3, with one first-place vote apiece, were 11th and 12th with 57 and 56 points, respectively. Two other teams also received one first-place vote but failed to get into the Top 15.

Bridgeport, 18-4, was ranked 13th, followed by North Dakota, 19-4, and St. Mary's Tex., 21-4, all unranked last week. Dropping from the poll were Virginia State, Florida Southern and Ashland.

The Central Ohio Archery Golf Open will be held at Upper Lansdowne it was announced today by club pro Rick Engle.

Registration for the event will be from 10 a.m. until noon. Green fees and a small registration fee to cover the cost of the tournament will be charged.

A new event for the area, it will be open to novice and expert alike and all local archers are invited to participate.

Tom Veit, Ashville, is supervising the tournament. The novice who has any questions may call him at 983-4466, his home telephone number.

Any type bow may be used and archers will compete in divisions according to the bow. The classifications will be for sighted and bare, hunting and target bows.

A 4½ inch ball located at each "green" is the "cup" and the archer is considered to have completed the hole when his arrow strikes the ball. If the arrow lands within three feet of the ball, the archer does not take the next shot, but adds a "stroke" to his score.

The archery golf par for Upper Lansdowne is 53.

Engle said the pro shop and snack bar at the golf course will be open Sunday.

Giants To Stay In San Francisco

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The National League owners have taken a giant step towards keeping major league baseball in San Francisco this season, if and when the season ever gets started.

The owners, meeting for over four hours in Chicago Tuesday, voted to approve the sale of the financially-troubled Giants to a group headed by San Francisco financier Robert Lurie and former Texas Rangers owner Bob Short.

"We'll keep the Giants in San Francisco forever," pledged Lurie. "If not, I wouldn't be bidding for the team. We have new ideas and promotions. I am willing to say right now that if we get the club, we'll double the attendance next season."

Assuming that season ever gets underway. Marvin Miller, head of the Players Association, was to meet with an owners committee in Philadelphia today to try to make some progress towards settling their dispute, which centers on the controversial reserve clause.

After a similar session in New York Monday, presidents Lee MacPhail of the American League and Chub Feeney of the National League said the differences between the owners and players over the reserve clause were too great to open the spring training camps as scheduled. The owners' player relations committee also expressed a willingness to forego the regular season, if necessary.

The sale of the Giants for $8 million — Lurie would own 50 per cent, Short 25 per cent and a Minneapolis conglomerate 25 per cent — was approved with the proviso that certain conditions involving both the purchasers and the city of San Francisco are met by March 1.

Feeney said if the conditions — which were not disclosed — are not fulfilled, the National League owners would meet again on the Giants matter. A Toronto group has bid a reported $13.25 million for the team, but about $5 million of that would go towards legal fees should the city of San Francisco sue to keep the team from moving to Canada.

Feeney said the Giants' sale was the only topic of discussion at the Chicago meeting, but added that the National League would meet again soon to discuss expansion.

That came on the heels of a report from Washington that M. Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the New York Mets and chairman of the major leagues' franchise committee, was urging his fellow owners to vote for immediate expansion to Washington.

The report, in Tuesday's edition of the Washington Star, said Grant had met with certain National League owners Monday night in Chicago in an effort to persuade them to keep the Giants in San Francisco and expand into Washington and Toronto.

Joe Morgan Fears Alienation Of Fans

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joe Morgan, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1975, thinks major league baseball is flirting with alienation of fan affections.

The Cincinnati Reds spunky second baseman warns that the long brewing court hagglings are "going to cost us the fans we won back with that super World Series."

Morgan said Tuesday that he is "disappointed" with the drawn-out proceedings which "are giving the game a lot of bad publicity."

Morgan, speaking by telephone from his home in Oakland, Calif, said he was dismayed at the owners' decision to delay the start of spring training due to issues such as the reserve clause.

Similar reaction came from teammate Pete Rose, who said "I'm ready to play baseball and so are 39 other guys on this team."

"I'm lost anymore," said Rose, who was named MVP of the World Series. "I can't keep up with what's going on anymore than the fan can."

Rose and Morgan remained unsigned and are reportedly seeking $200,000-a-year salaries. Catcher Johnny Bench signed his 1976 contract for $200,000 last week, becoming only the third baseball player in history to reach the figure.

Rose, who is heading into his 14th big league season, denies he is holding out for $200,000. "I'm not saying because Johnny gets $200,000 that I should too. I'm not asking for the moon—and the Reds know it. Heck, Johnny got paid more than I did last year."

Morgan is taking a firmer stance, indicating the possiblity exists that he might play out his option.

"I'm not after a multiyear contract. Too many people use it like a security blanket," said Morgan. "But I consider myself one of the best players in baseball and I want to be paid accordingly.

Morgan had a career high .327 batting average and drove in 94 runs, another career mark. He also stole 67 bases and had 17 home runs.

Rose made his remarks prior to picking up a civic award presented to the Reds. The World Champions were presented with the Ambassador Award, an honor given annually to an individual or organization which brings favorable national recognition to Cincinnati. It is presented by the Cincinnati Convention & Visitors Bureau.

Capitals, Flyers Tie 5-5 In NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bernie Parent is back — but is that really him?

Parent was greeted with a standing ovation from the crowd at the Capital Centre when he skated to the Philadelphia Flyers' nets for the first time in 10 months. But the goalie who played Tuesday night was just a shadow of the netminder who blanked the explosive Buffalo Sabres 2-0 in the last game of the Stanley Cup finals back on May 29.

"It felt good to be back, but I know I'm not in condition now and not really ready to play," said Parent following the 5-5 tie between the Flyers and the Washington Capitals. The lowly Caps managed just 19 shots on goal, but five of them eluded Parent.

With 5½ weeks remaining in the regular season, Parent's goal is to play his way into top form for the playoffs.

Elsewhere in the National Hockey League Tuesday night, it was New York Islanders 7, Minnesota 1; Montreal 6, St. Louis 2, and Chicago 4, Vancouver 1.

In the World Hockey Association, it was Quebec 4, Houston 1; Cincinnati 9, Toronto 6, and Calgary 3, Edmonton 3, tie.

Former Flyer Bob Sirois scored two goals for Washington, which jumped out to a 3-0 lead against Parent on goals by Ron Lalonde, Sirois and Hartland Monahan.

Barbara's Choice Wins At Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Barbara's Choice took the featured pace mile at Lebanon Tuesday night in 2:07.1-5 and paid $13.40, $7 and $8.40.

Cat's Brother was second, $7.80 and $4.80 and Net Adios, third, $4.

Armbrister's signing brings to 20 the number of players under contract, according to a spokesman for the world champions.

Armbrister, who hit .185 while appearing in 59 games, was involved in the play in Game Three that brought cries of foul from Boston Red Sox fans. Armbrister, who was pinch hitting, laid down a sacrifice bunt that resulted in contact with Boston catcher Carlton Fisk. American League umpire Larry Barnett ruled there was no interference and the Reds went on to win in extra innings.

Also signing was Joel Youngblood, an outfielder who hit .263 at Indianapolis last year and lefthand pitcher Lorin Grow, who was 8-10 at Indianapolis.

Tar Heels Win AC Crown

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

North Carolina's basketball team either beats you into submission, or bores you to death. In either case, the Tar Heels manage to win.

Tuesday night was time for one of those notorious four-corner delays, a North Carolina specialty that puts the opposition into a deep freeze and the crowd to sleep.

The means justified the end as usual, and the boys in Carolina blue defeated North Carolina State 91-79 to win the Atlantic Coast Conference's regular-season championship.

"We can beat them," snickered the Wolfpack's Kenny Carr. "They're just a bunch of foul shooters."

But that's the point.

The Tar Heels sit on a lead as well as anybody in the country and while playing catch on the perimeter of their half of the court, dare the opposition to foul them. Then, someone like Phil Ford makes 16 shots in a row — like he did Tuesday night.

"I was extremely pleased with this team," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. "But our goal is winning the (ACC) tournament. You notice that we scored well from the four corners' offense — and I did say offense."

The tactic might have beaten him but didn't impress North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan. In fact he preferred to talk about his own offense, particularly Carr, who scored 33 points.

"If there's a better one than Carr, name him," Sloan said. "Let's play one-on-one and I'll bet my coliseum against North Carolina's."

While North Carolina was winning the ACC, Texas A&M was tying a rope around the Southwest Conference championship. The No. 20 Aggies, only other ranked team in action Tuesday night, beat Rice 98-67 to clinch at least a tie for the SWC crown.

Elsewhere, Army beat Merrimack 84-73; VMI ripped Central Wesleyan 85-48; Canisius stymied St. Joseph's, Pa., 77-71; Northeast Louisiana whipped Lamar 90-67; Providence walloped Rhode Island 85-66; Houston nipped SMU 100-98; Arkansas routed Baylor 86-64 and Fairfield outscored Iona 87-62.

Ray Roberts scored 22 points to lead Texas A&M over Rice for the Aggies' second straight Southwest Conference basketball title. The victory, which ended Texas A&M's second straight 20-victory season, gave Coach Shelby Metcalf his fourth SWC title in his 13 years at A&M.

Fairmont State Now Poll Leader

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alcorn State, stunned 96-82 by Southern for only its second loss of the season, tumbled from the top of The Associated Press college division basketball rankings and was replaced by unbeaten Fairmont State.

The Braves, 24-2, skidded to third behind the front-running Falcons, 24-0, and Grand Canyon, 20-2. Fairmont State, with three victories for the week ending Sunday, received 21 first-place votes and 309 points in a poll of a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Grand Canyon, 20-2 after two triumphs last week, received two No. 1 votes and 228 points. Alcorn State had four No. 1 votes and 216 points in the tally released Tuesday.

Gardner-Webb, 23-3, held on to fourth place with one No. 1 vote and 204 points. But Tennessee State, No. 5 last week, skidded to 11th after two loses during the week. Taking over in fifth was Kentucky State, 20-4, a three-time victor last week. The Thorobreds received 163 points.

Marymount, 23-3, also moved up one place to sixth with 120 points followed by Nicholls State, 20-3, up from ninth place with 87 points. Philadelphia Textile, 15th last week, leaped into a share of eighth place with Rollins, which was alone there last week. The Rams, 23-0, and the Tars, 18-4, each received 79 points, including one first-place vote for Philadelphia Textile.

Shepherd, 28-1 after three victories last week including a 112-63 rout of Strayer, remained 10th with 75 points. Tennessee State, 18-5, and Cheyney State, 22-3, with one first-place vote apiece, were 11th and 12th with 57 and 56 points, respectively. Two other teams also received one first-place vote but failed to get into the Top 15.

Bridgeport, 18-4, was ranked 13th, followed by North Dakota, 19-4, and St. Mary's Tex., 21-4, all unranked last week. Dropping from the poll were Virginia State, Florida Southern and Ashland.

Giants To Stay In San Francisco

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The National League owners have taken a giant step towards keeping major league baseball in San Francisco this season, if and when the season ever gets started.

The owners, meeting for over four hours in Chicago Tuesday, voted to approve the sale of the financially-troubled Giants to a group headed by San Francisco financier Robert Lurie and former Texas Rangers owner Bob Short.

"We'll keep the Giants in San Francisco forever," pledged Lurie. "If not, I wouldn't be bidding for the team. We have new ideas and promotions. I am willing to say right now that if we get the club, we'll double the attendance next season."

Assuming that season ever gets underway. Marvin Miller, head of the Players Association, was to meet with an owners committee in Philadelphia today to try to make some progress towards settling their dispute, which centers on the controversial reserve clause.

After a similar session in New York Monday, presidents Lee MacPhail of the American League and Chub Feeney of the National League said the differences between the owners and players over the reserve clause were too great to open the spring training camps as scheduled. The owners' player relations committee also expressed a willingness to forego the regular season, if necessary.

The sale of the Giants for $8 million — Lurie would own 50 per cent, Short 25 per cent and a Minneapolis conglomerate 25 per cent — was approved with the proviso that certain conditions involving both the purchasers and the city of San Francisco are met by March 1.

Feeney said if the conditions — which were not disclosed — are not fulfilled, the National League owners would meet again on the Giants matter. A Toronto group has bid a reported $13.25 million for the team, but about $5 million of that would go towards legal fees should the city of San Francisco sue to keep the team from moving to Canada.

Feeney said the Giants' sale was the only topic of discussion at the Chicago meeting, but added that the National League would meet again soon to discuss expansion.

That came on the heels of a report from Washington that M. Donald Grant, chairman of the board of the New York Mets and chairman of the major leagues' franchise committee, was urging his fellow owners to vote for immediate expansion to Washington.

The report, in Tuesday's edition of the Washington Star, said Grant had met with certain National League owners Monday night in Chicago in an effort to persuade them to keep the Giants in San Francisco and expand into Washington and Toronto.

Mar. 6 — Teays Valley (7-3) vs Logan Elm (7-3), 7 p.m.

Archery Golf Open To Be Held At Upper Lansdowne Course

The Central Ohio Archery Golf Open will be held at Upper Lansdowne it was announced today by club pro Rick Engle.

Registration for the event will be from 10 a.m. until noon. Green fees and a small registration fee to cover the cost of the tournament will be charged.

A new event for the area, it will be open to novice and expert alike and all local archers are invited to participate.

Tom Veit, Ashville, is supervising the tournament. The novice who has any questions may call him at 983-4466, his home telephone number.

Any type bow may be used and archers will compete in divisions according to the bow. The classifications will be for sighted and bare, hunting and target bows.

Tropheys will be awarded in each class. If there are seven or more in a class, the tropheys will be given for first, second and third place; five to seven, first and second; under five, first only.

Archery golf is played under the rules of golf. The first or flight arrow is for distance, the next arrows on each hole for accuracy. A 4½ inch ball located at each "green" is the "cup" and the archer is considered to have completed the hole when his arrow strikes the ball. If the arrow lands within three feet of the ball, the archer does not take the next shot, but adds a "stroke" to his score.

The archery golf par for Upper Lansdowne is 53.

Engle said the pro shop and snack bar at the golf course will be open Sunday.

Joe Morgan Fears Alienation Of Fans

CINCINNATI (AP)—Joe Morgan, the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1975, thinks major league baseball is flirting with alienation of fan affections.

The Cincinnati Reds spunky second baseman warns that the long brewing court hagglings are "going to cost us the fans we won back with that super World Series."

Morgan said Tuesday that he is "disappointed" with the drawn-out proceedings which "are giving the game a lot of bad publicity."

Morgan, speaking by telephone from his home in Oakland, Calif, said he was dismayed at the owners' decision to delay the start of spring training due to issues such as the reserve clause.

Similar reaction came from teammate Pete Rose, who said "I'm ready to play baseball and so are 39 other guys on this team."

"I'm lost anymore," said Rose, who was named MVP of the World Series. "I can't keep up with what's going on anymore than the fan can."

Rose and Morgan remained unsigned and are reportedly seeking $200,000-a-year salaries. Catcher Johnny Bench signed his 1976 contract for $200,000 last week, becoming only the third baseball player in history to reach the figure.

Rose, who is heading into his 14th big league season, denies he is holding out for $200,000. "I'm not saying because Johnny gets $200,000 that I should too. I'm not asking for the moon—and the Reds know it. Heck, Johnny got paid more than I did last year."

Morgan is taking a firmer stance, indicating the possiblity exists that he might play out his option.

"I'm not after a multiyear contract. Too many people use it like a security blanket," said Morgan. "But I consider myself one of the best players in baseball and I want to be paid accordingly.

Morgan had a career high .327 batting average and drove in 94 runs, another career mark. He also stole 67 bases and had 17 home runs.

Rose made his remarks prior to picking up a civic award presented to the Reds. The World Champions were presented with the Ambassador Award, an honor given annually to an individual or organization which brings favorable national recognition to Cincinnati. It is presented by the Cincinnati Convention & Visitors Bureau.

Capitals, Flyers Tie 5-5 In NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bernie Parent is back — but is that really him?

Parent was greeted with a standing ovation from the crowd at the Capital Centre when he skated to the Philadelphia Flyers' nets for the first time in 10 months. But the goalie who played Tuesday night was just a shadow of the netminder who blanked the explosive Buffalo Sabres 2-0 in the last game of the Stanley Cup finals back on May 29.

"It felt good to be back, but I know I'm not in condition now and not really ready to play," said Parent following the 5-5 tie between the Flyers and the Washington Capitals. The lowly Caps managed just 19 shots on goal, but five of them eluded Parent.

With 5½ weeks remaining in the regular season, Parent's goal is to play his way into top form for the playoffs.

Elsewhere in the National Hockey League Tuesday night, it was New York Islanders 7, Minnesota 1; Montreal 6, St. Louis 2, and Chicago 4, Vancouver 1.

In the World Hockey Association, it was Quebec 4, Houston 1; Cincinnati 9, Toronto 6, and Calgary 3, Edmonton 3, tie.

Former Flyer Bob Sirois scored two goals for Washington, which jumped out to a 3-0 lead against Parent on goals by Ron Lalonde, Sirois and Hartland Monahan.

EGGPLANT USED AS A VEGETABLE

The bright purple eggplant is a large berry that is prepared and eaten as a vegetable. The name comes from an earlier, smaller variety in Europe that resembled a hen's egg in size and shape.

The eggplant probably originated in the East Indies. It is used extensively today in the cooking of the Middle East and India. Early American settlers refused to eat eggplant because they believed it was poisonous, but it soon gained acceptance.

When buying eggplant, choose those with smooth, glossy skin and bright green tops. Eggplant should be firm and heavy. An eggplant will keep several days if stored in the refrigerator.

It is not necessary to peel eggplant before cooking because the skin is usually tender. To bake eggplant, cut into ¾ inch thick slices. Arrange slices in a large flat baking dish and brush with seasoned melted butter. Bake at 350° F. until tender and golden brown.

This eggplant recipe makes an unusual side dish for a simple meal.

ITALIAN EGGPLANT

1 Large Eggplant
Salt And Pepper To Taste
1 Cup Dried Bread Crumbs
2 Slightly Beaten Eggs
Olive Oil
1 ½ Cups Tomato Sauce, Heated
½ Pound Mozzarella Cheese, Sliced Thinly
1 Tsp. Dried Basil
¼ Cup Grated Parmesan Cheese
Garlic Salt

Wash eggplant and cut into slices, ¼ inch thick. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Dip into bread crumbs, dip into egg and back into bread crumbs. Place in the refrigerator for 30 minutes. Heat about ⅛ inch of olive oil in a skillet. Fry eggplant slices until tender and golden brown on both sides. Add more oil when necessary. Drain on absorbent paper. Line a greased shallow baking dish with some of the heated sauce. Arrange a layer of eggplant slices over the sauce. Cover with a layer of Mozzarella cheese, more sauce and a sprinkling of basil, Parmesan cheese and garlic salt. Repeat the layers until the dish is full. Bake at 350° F. for 25 to 30 minutes. This recipe makes six servings.

EGGPLANT USED AS A VEGETABLE

The bright purple eggplant is a large berry that is prepared and eaten as a vegetable. The name comes from an earlier, smaller variety in Europe that resembled a hen's egg in size and shape.

The eggplant probably originated in the East Indies. It is used extensively today in the cooking of the Middle East and India. Early American settlers refused to eat eggplant because they believed it was poisonous, but it soon gained acceptance.

When buying eggplant, choose those with smooth, glossy skin and bright green tops. Eggplant should be firm and heavy. An eggplant will keep several days if stored in the refrigerator.

It is not necessary to peel eggplant before cooking because the skin is usually tender. To bake eggplant, cut into ¾ inch thick slices. Arrange slices in a large flat baking dish and brush with seasoned melted butter. Bake at 350° F. until tender and golden brown.

This eggplant recipe makes an unusual side dish for a simple meal.

ITALIAN EGGPLANT

1 Large Eggplant
Salt And Pepper To Taste
1 Cup Dried Bread Crumbs
2 Slightly Beaten Eggs
Olive Oil
1½ Cups Tomato Sauce, Heated
½ Pound Mozzarella Cheese, Sliced Thinly
1 Tsp. Dried Basil
¼ Cup Grated Parmesan Cheese
Garlic Salt

Wash eggplant and cut into slices, ¼ inch thick. Sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Dip into bread crumbs, dip into egg and back into bread crumbs. Place in the refrigerator for 30 minutes. Heat about ⅛ inch of olive oil in a skillet. Fry eggplant slices until tender and golden brown on both sides. Add more oil when necessary. Drain on absorbent paper. Line a greased shallow baking dish with some of the heated sauce. Arrange a layer of eggplant slices over the sauce. Cover with a layer of Mozzarella cheese, more sauce and a sprinkling of basil, Parmesan cheese and garlic salt. Repeat the layers until the dish is full. Bake at 350° F. for 25 to 30 minutes. This recipe makes six servings.

Set Target Prices, Grain Loan Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Target prices and loan rates for the 1976 crops of cotton and major grains are 14 per cent higher than last year.

The Agriculture Department is also reinstituting the soybean loan program.

The Agriculture Department announced the adjustments in target prices, required by statute, and in production loan rates, subject to the secretary's discretion, on Tuesday.

Secretary Earl L. Butz had been under increasing pressure from farm organizations and farm-state members of Congress to pull up the loan rates in line with the mandated hikes in the target prices, to reflect increases last year in production costs.

Long-standing pressure to reinstitute a loan program for soybeans, not in effect last year, also was intensified in recent months because of expanded production from competing Brazil in soybeans and the several Asian nations producing and exporting palm oil.

The announcement from Butz' office attributed the need for a soybean loan, at $2.50 a bushel, to those foreign factors.

The new target prices are year:

Wheat — $2.29, up from $2.05 a bushel.

Corn — $1.57, up from $1.38 a bushel.

Sorghum — $1.49, up from $1.31 a bushel.

Barley — $1.28, up from $1.13 a bushel.

Upland cotton — 43.2 cents a pound, up from 38 cents a pound.

The new loan rates are:

Wheat — $1.50 a bushel, an increase of 9.49 per cent.

Corn — $1.25 a bushel, an increase of 13.6 per cent.

Sorghum — $1.19 a bushel or $2.13 per 100 pounds, increases of 13.3 per cent.

Barley — $1.02 a bushel, also a 13.3 per cent increase.

Oats — 60 cents a bushel, up 11.1 per cent.

Rye — $1 a bushel, an increase of 12.4 per cent.

States Demanding Budget Amendment

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska has joined a campaign to force a federal constitutional convention if Congress doesn't propose an amendment to require a balanced federal budget.

Nebraska's legislature voted 29 to 7 Monday to join seven other states — West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, Mississippi, North Dakota, Georgia and Louisiana — in proposing a constitutional convention.

Thirty-four states are needed for the United States to have its first federal constitutional convention since 1787.

The convention delegates would have the power to propose constitutional amendments, which would need the ratification of three-fourths of the states.

The resolutions passed by Nebraska and the seven other states call for the convention only if Congress does not offer an amendment through the regular process.

"Certainly I think when they see we mean business they will get busy and write us up an amendment," said state Sen. James Clark, a Maryland Democrat and the movement's leader.

In a telephone interview, Clark said he hoped to have resolutions passed in 25 states by the end of the year. He said polls show 80 per cent of the people favor a balanced federal budget.

While Clark said the convention could be limited to amendments requiring a balanced federal budget, others said the convention would be wide open for all types of amendments.

"I think it was a mindless, irrational act that will return to haunt the Nebraska Legislature," said state Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha. "Unless the rest of the legislatures in the United States exercise better judgment, we will have a convention with the power to rewrite the U.S. Constitution."

Mrs. Peron Faces Action By Solons

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Isabel Peron's foes in Congress were trying to rally a two-thirds majority today to impeach her or declare her unfit to govern.

The lower house of Congress was to meet for the special session that the government canceled last week in an attempt to avert a showdown.

Although the session was called to consider bills still pending, the deputies could decide to discuss action against the embattled president.

Top officials of the Peronist movement met Tuesday after Mrs. Peron rejected their demand that she purge her cabinet and circle of advisers of men linked to Jose Lopez Rega, her chief adviser and confidant who was forced into exile last summer.

Some leading Peronists urged that the movement abandon Mrs. Peron and join dissident Peronists and the opposition parties in a vote to remove her now, 15 months before the end of her term.

One impeachment bill has already been presented by a small opposition party. The largest opposition party, the Radical Civic Union (UCR), prepared a resolution asking the president for a "patriotic resignation."

Ricardo Balbin, the leader of the UCR, said if Mrs. Peron does not alter her adamant attitude and make the changes demanded of her, "the military situation could become irreversible." He was referring to the possibility of a military coup, which many believe to be imminent.

Well-placed sources said the leaders of the armed forces still hope the government and Congress will resolve the situation by constitutional means. But the sources said a growing number of high-ranking officers are arguing that the military must act to end the political, economic and security crises.

The army reported Tuesday that 10 guerrillas were killed in skirmishes in the northern mountains near Tucuman since Feb. 19, bringing to at least 110 the number of persons killed in political violence since Jan. 1.

Bingo Bills Pondered By Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Committees of both houses Tuesday worked out separate versions of bills to legalize charity bingo during a busy legislative day that included action on several fronts.

The bingo bills, to implement a constitutional amendment approved by voters last November, would permit games by churches and other charitable groups, but at the same time place them under state regulation and limit prizes.

Sponsors, including Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, said the legislation is needed to drive profiteers from the state, including those who run eight illicit games in the Cleveland area that drain $12 million a year from players who otherwise may have gone to games for charity.

In other action, the Senate voted 20-12 along party lines, with majority Democrats prevailing, to join the House in overriding GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' veto of a measure setting up a commission to investigate conditions in Ohio's more than 1,000 nursing homes.

It was the first gubernatorial veto override ever for Rhodes, now a year into his third term. The last time any governor was overruled by a legislature was in 1961 after then Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, a Democrat, rejected a sales tax exemption bill.

The veto couldn't have been overridden without the support of 14 Republicans in the House. They joined 56 Democrats in that chamber last week as the House voted 70-22 to let the bill become law over the governor's objections. To override it takes a three-fifths vote of both chambers — 20 in the Senate and 60 in the House.

Fort Donelson was a Confederate fortification on the Cumberland River at Dover, Tenn., commanding the approach to Nashville. It was captured Feb. 16, 1862, by Gen. Ulysses S. Grant.

Songstress Has Country Flavor

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — After Margo Smith found security, she was ready for a career in country music. But she was smart enough not to force it.

For her, other things had to come first — marriage, children and a teaching career.

"I was learning to can pickles when Brenda Lee was learning to be a superstar," she said. "But it was important for me to become a housewife and rear children."

An adopted child, Margo was reared by an aunt and uncle on an Ohio farm. She absorbed a blow at age 16 when her uncle and her real father died the same year.

"It really kind of knocked the security out from underneath me," she said. "So all I thought about was having something that I felt I could really lean on. That's one of the biggest reasons I went into teaching."

She taught kindergarten for three years and backed into song writing while looking for a way to entertain the youngsters.

"I found out when I started teaching that when I could not find a song or a poem applicable to the situation, I would write it. So I started writing poetry and songs ..."

In 1971, she was ready to tackle the uncertainties of a musical career. She and her husband Kenneth left New Carlisle, Ohio, bound for Nashville with a fistful of songs.

"I guess the thing that gave me security about getting into the music business was that I had gotten a bit older and my husband had a secure job," she said. "I felt like I had been conservative long enough and I was going to fly."

She signed a record contract on her first trip to Music City. But it wasn't until her single, "There I Said It," was released that she knew how it felt to have a record in the top 10."

She wrote the song in 15 minutes. It was about the aunt who reared her.

Her aunt taught her to smile every day, get as much out of life as possible and be honest. The aunt said it isn't painful to tell someone you love them, "because once you said it, it becomes easy and becomes part of your personality."

"The time I wrote that song, I knew it was a hit," Margo said. "I didn't know if I could make it a hit, but if anybody listened to that song, they would know it was a hit."

She sounds a little like Teresa Brewer but isn't patterning herself after anybody.

"People tell me my phrasing is a little different, but I'm not going to change that. I'm doing what I think is me and if people can't accept that, then that's the way I want it. I don't want to be something I'm not."

Set Target Prices, Grain Loan Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Target prices and loan rates for the 1976 crops of cotton and major grains are 14 per cent higher than last year.

The Agriculture Department is also reinstituting the soybean loan program.

The Agriculture Department announced the adjustments in target prices, required by statute, and in production loan rates, subject to the secretary's discretion, on Tuesday.

Secretary Earl L. Butz had been under increasing pressure from farm organizations and farm-state members of Congress to pull up the loan rates in line with the mandated hikes in the target prices, to reflect increases last year in production costs.

Long-standing pressure to reinstitute a loan program for soybeans, not in effect last year, also was intensified in recent months because of expanded production from competing Brazil in soybeans and the several Asian nations producing and exporting palm oil.

The announcement from Butz' office attributed the need for a soybean loan, at $2.50 a bushel, to those foreign factors.

The new target prices are:

Wheat — $2.29, up from $2.05 a bushel.

Corn — $1.57, up from $1.38 a bushel.

Sorghum — $1.49, up from $1.31 a bushel.

Barley — $1.28, up from $1.13 a bushel.

Upland cotton — 43.2 cents a pound, up from 38 cents a pound.

The new loan rates are:

Wheat — $1.50 a bushel, an increase of 9.49 per cent.

Corn — $1.25 a bushel, an increase of 13.6 per cent.

Sorghum — $1.19 a bushel or $2.13 per 100 pounds, increases of 13.3 per cent.

Barley — $1.02 a bushel, also a 13.3 per cent increase.

Oats — 60 cents a bushel, up 11.1 per cent.

Rye — $1 a bushel, an increase of 12.4 per cent.

States Demanding Budget Amendment

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska has joined a campaign to force a federal constitutional convention if Congress doesn't propose an amendment to require a balanced federal budget.

Nebraska's legislature voted 29 to 7 Monday to join seven other states — West Virginia, Delaware, Maryland, Mississippi, North Dakota, Georgia and Louisiana — in proposing a constitutional convention.

Thirty-four states are needed for the United States to have its first federal constitutional convention since 1787.

The convention delegates would have the power to propose constitutional amendments, which would need the ratification of three-fourths of the states.

The resolutions passed by Nebraska and the seven other states call for the convention only if Congress does not offer an amendment through the regular process.

"Certainly I think when they see we mean business they will get busy and write us up an amendment," said state Sen. James Clark, a Maryland Democrat and the movement's leader.

In a telephone interview, Clark said he hoped to have resolutions passed in 25 states by the end of the year. He said polls show 80 per cent of the people favor a balanced federal budget.

While Clark said the convention could be limited to amendments requiring a balanced federal budget, others said the convention would be wide open for all types of amendments.

"I think it was a mindless, irrational act that will return to haunt the Nebraska Legislature," said state Sen. John Cavanaugh of Omaha. "Unless the rest of the legislatures in the United States exercise better judgment, we will have a convention with the power to rewrite the U.S. Constitution."

Mrs. Peron Faces Action By Solons

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Isabel Peron's foes in Congress were trying to rally a two-thirds majority today to impeach her or declare her unfit to govern.

The lower house of Congress was to meet for the special session that the government canceled last week in an attempt to avert a showdown. Although the session was called to consider bills still pending, the deputies could decide to discuss action against the embattled president.

Top officials of the Peronist movement met Tuesday after Mrs. Peron rejected their demand that she purge her cabinet and circle of advisers of men linked to Jose Lopez Rega, her chief adviser and confidant who was forced into exile last summer.

Some leading Peronists urged that the movement abandon Mrs. Peron and join dissident Peronists and the opposition parties in a vote to remove her now, 15 months before the end of her term.

One impeachment bill has already been presented by a small opposition party. The largest opposition party, the Radical Civic Union (UCR), prepared a resolution asking the president for a "patriotic resignation."

Ricardo Balbin, the leader of the UCR, said if Mrs. Peron does not alter her adamant attitude and make the changes demanded of her, "the military situation could become irreversible." He was referring to the possibility of a military coup, which many believe to be imminent.

Well-placed sources said the leaders of the armed forces still hope the government and Congress will resolve the situation by constitutional means. But the sources said a growing number of high-ranking officers are arguing that the military must act to end the political, economic and security crises.

The army reported Tuesday that 10 guerrillas were killed in skirmishes in the northern mountains near Tucuman since Feb. 19, bringing to at least 110 the number of persons killed in political violence since Jan. 1.

Bingo Bills Pondered By Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Committees of both houses Tuesday worked out separate versions of bills to legalize charity bingo during a busy legislative day that included action on several fronts.

The bingo bills, to implement a constitutional amendment approved by voters last November, would permit games by churches and other charitable groups, but at the same time place them under state regulation and limit prizes.

Sponsors, including Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 Cleveland, said the legislation is needed to drive profiteers from the state, including those who run eight illicit games in the Cleveland area that drain $12 million a year from players who otherwise may have gone to games for charity.

In other action, the Senate voted 20-12 along party lines, with majority Democrats prevailing, to join the House in overriding GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' veto of a measure setting up a commission to investigate conditions in Ohio's more than 1,000 nursing homes.

It was the first gubernatorial veto override ever for Rhodes, now a year into his third term. The last time any governor was overruled by a legislature was in 1961 after then Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, a Democrat, rejected a sales tax exemption bill.

The veto couldn't have been overridden without the support of 14 Republicans in the House. They joined 56 Democrats in that chamber last week as the House voted 70-22 to let the bill become law over the governor's objections. To override it takes a three-fifths vote of both chambers — 20 in the Senate and 60 in the House.

Owens-Illinois Elects 3 Vice Presidents

TOLEDO — The election of Leonard E. Brownson, III, Williams Laimbeer and David A. Ward as vice presidents of Owens-Illinois, Inc. was announced by Edwin D. Dodd, president of the company.

The three new vice presidents will continue in their present positions. Brownson is general manager of O-I's Libbey Glass Division, a leading producer of glass tumblers, stemware, tableware, decorative and storage canisters, and hand-pressed specialty glassware.

Laimbeer is general manager of box plant operations for the company's Forest Products Division with responsibility for the operation of 20 corrugated shipping box plants in 15 states from coast to coast.

Ward is general manager of the Kimble Division, which makes glass tubing and rod and tubing-made products such as ampuls, vials and syringe cartridges, pharmaceutical containers and laboratory glass and plastic products in five plants in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana.

A native of New York City who was raised in Havana, Cuba, Brownson attended Colby (Maine) College and later served as a drill instructor in the U.S. Marine Corps. He joined O-I in 1960 and held a variety of positions in the International Group before becoming marketing director of Owens-Illinois International in 1968.

Brownson became general manager of Durobor, O-I's Belgium subsidiary, in 1971. He served three years as general manager of O-I International in Geneva before he was named Libbey general manager in 1975.

A native of Columbus, Laimbeer attended Bradfield (England) College and Harvard University before joining O-I as a Forest Products Division sales representative in 1959. He came to Toledo in 1964 as manager of product and market development for the division.

Laimbeer spent five years at the O-I Chicago box plant, first as sales manager and then as general manager, before moving to the West Coast in 1971 as general manager of both the Pacific Coast Region and the division's Los Angeles box plant. He has been general manager of box plant operations for the past year.

A native of Martins Ferry, Ward received a bachelor of arts degree from Ohio State University in 1956. He went to work for the Toledo law firm of Fuller, Henry, Hodge & Snyder, O-I legal counsel, in 1958 after receiving a doctor of jurisprudence degree from Ohio State.

Ward joined the O-I legal department in 1962. He became assistant secretary of the company in 1969 and assistant general counsel in February of 1975. He has been Kimble general manager since last October.

Ohio's Malpractice Law Questioned

CLEVELAND (AP) — The constitutionality of a provision in Ohio's new malpractice law that limits damages recoverable to $200,000 has been questioned by two Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judges.

Judges George W. White and George J. McMonagle recently questioned the law's provision in a memorandum of opinion issued in connection with motions to dismiss two malpractice suits before them.

White said Tuesday that he and McMonagle think this provision is unconstitutional. "Here there is a transgression of a basic unconstitutional principle forbidding unequal and special treatment for a class (physicians) with no general beneficent reason apparent," the judges' memorandum states in part.

"The extending of special litigation benefits to the medical profession certainly cannot be considered as relating to protection of the public health...If the medical profession is less accountable than formerly, relaxation of medical standards may occur with the public as the victim," the memorandum also states.

White said that if the suits currently before them—which have not been adjudicated—are appealed, the $200,000 limit could be ruled unconstitutional by a higher court.

The judges issued their opinion in connection with related suits filed in their courts. McMongale is hearing a suit brought by Arlie B. Graley of Cleveland against a Lakewood surgeon and White is hearing a suit brought by Richard Ahlgrim against the Cleveland Clinic Foundation. Both plaintiffs had asked for damages exceeding the $200,000 limit, White said.

A similar provision in Idaho setting limits to damages that can be awarded has been stricken down, White noted. Last year that state enacted a law which set a $150,000 limit on damages involving one person. But the Fourth Judicial District in Idaho ruled the provision unconstitutional.

White added that the defendants had asked the courts to dismiss the suits on the grounds that the suits were filed after the law went into effect but that the alleged malpractice took place before the law went into effect. The judges rejected the dismissal motions, saying the new law makes no provision for retroactivity.

Ohio's malpractice law, among other things, sets up a joint underwriting association to backstop privately written malpractice insurance. Under the law, malpractice suits must first undergo an arbitration attempt before going to court. Gov. James A. Rhodes signed the bill into law on July 28.

Easter Seal Campaign To Start Monday

Approximately 30 women of the Pickaway County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and friends of the society, have spent countless hours typing labels, sorting and filling 11,000 envelopes with Easter Seals in readiness for mailing on March 1.

The mailing is done immediately after the annual Easter Seal Campaign kick-off which is being held Sunday Feb. 29 at the Ohio State Student Union Building in Columbus. The campaign runs from March 1 through April 18.

Woody Hayes will be the luncheon speaker and is scheduled to take part in the picture taking session with winners of the "Easter Parade On Wheels" and each local Easter Seal child throughout Ohio.

Faith Brown, 4½-year-old daughter of Mr. an Mrs. Gary Brown of Route 5, is Pickaway Coutny's 1976 Easter Seal Child. Faith is expecting to attend the kick-off along with Richard E. Plum, president-elect of the Ohio Easter Seal Society, Dick T. Tootle, Pickaway County's 1976 Easter Seal Campaign chairman and many members of the local Easter Seal Society.

Schorr Defends Leaking Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Television newsman Daniel Schorr, suspended by CBS for leaking a secret House intelligence report, says he believes the central question in any legal battle he may face remains the public's right to know.

"Experience has taught that it is not possible to work as a reporter while personally involved in a controversy over reporters' rights, and I accept that reality," Schorr said Monday. A CBS correspondent for 23 years, he has maintained that he "could not be responsible for suppressing the report."

The House Ethics Committee was scheduled to meet today to consider finding Schorr in contempt of Congress. The House voted 269 to 115 on Thursday to investigate circumstances of the leak of the report.

The first completely closed automobile bodies were manufactured in 1909.

Man Charged With 3 Crimes

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Charles D. Cotton, 32, of Mansfield, accused of the Feb. 6 murder of patrolman Michael E. Hutchison, will be arraigned Friday in Richland County Common Pleas Court on three felony charges.

A county grand jury indicted Cotton on Monday for aggravated murder, forgery and felonious assault.

Also indicted were Cotton's wife, Alice, 22, for forgery, obstructing justice and carrying a concealed weapon, and Freddie Elsby, 19, of Mansfield for obstructing justice and carrying a concealed weapon.

Cotton is accused of shooting Hutchison to death and wounding auxiliary officer Roger Casler as the pair attempted to arrest him for reportedly trying to cash a forged check.

Borax, originally obtained from deposits of volcanic origin, now comes mostly from brines and dry lake beds where ground water has concentrated it. Borax is used in making glass and enamels in chemical industries.

Griping Techniques Explained

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If you want to complain effectively by telephone or mail, there are a few preparations you should make to be successful in getting your point across.

—Be sure to list the names, addresses and telephone numbers you'll need.

—Write in one sentence the purpose of your call or letter. If you don't know, how can you expect anyone else to understand?

—Write a paragraph that states the nature of your problem. Can you understand it?

—Do enough research to know who is capable of giving you satisfaction on the problem.

When it comes to the telephone call, make it brief. Make a reasonable demand on the person who can help you out. Give the other party time to respond.

Be sure you get a commitment in terms of days or weeks to resolve your problem. Don't accept a pat answer like: "We'll get to it soon." Follow your phone call with a letter. State your problem briefly using the paragraph you wrote before and attach copies of any transactions. Don't threaten anyone.

If you don't get an answer, go to the next person up. If it's a department store, write to the president or owner.

If you need the state attorney general's office on a complaint and don't know who to talk to, call 1-614-466-4320 for general information.

Here's a list of the most frequently called numbers in the attorney general's office: administrative agencies — 466-8639; antitrust — 466-2677; Bureau of Criminal Identification BCI — 466-2816; Bureau of Employment Service — 466-2707; charitable foundations — 466-3180; chief counsel's staff — 466-2980; civil rights — 466-4316; claims — 466-4510; consumer frauds — 1-800-282-0515; court of Claims — 466-5610; criminal activities — 466-5414; environmental law — 466-5983; financial institutions — 466-8600; liquor control — 466-3232; peace officer training — 466-3081; public utilities — 466-4395; special litigation — 466-2872; taxation — 466-5967; transportation — 466-4656; workmen's compensation — 466-6696.

All telephone numbers listed above are area code 614 except the toll-free consumer frauds line.

If you have a complaint about professional services such as a doctor, dentist, lawyer or judge, the attorney general cannot help you. His office has no jurisdiction.

The state Supreme Court has set up a new grievance procedure and accepts complaints about attorneys.

Doctors, dentists and most professionals are reviewed by peer groups in Ohio such as the state medical and dental boards.

Owens-Illinois Elects 3 Vice Presidents

TOLEDO — The election of Leonard E. Brownson, III, Williams Laimbeer and David A. Ward as vice presidents of Owens-Illinois, Inc. was announced by Edwin D. Dodd, president of the company.

The three new vice presidents will continue in their present positions. Brownson is general manager of O-I's Libbey Glass Division, a leading producer of glass tumblers, stemware, tableware, decorative and storage canisters, and hand-pressed specialty glassware.

Laimbeer is general manager of box plant operations for the company's Forest Products Division with responsibility for the operation of 20 corrugated shipping box plants in 15 states from coast to coast.

Ward is general manager of the Kimble Division, which makes glass tubing and rod and tubing-made products such as ampuls, vials and syringe cartridges, pharmaceutical containers and laboratory glass and plastic products in five plants in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana.

A native of New York City who was raised in Havana, Cuba, Brownson attended Colby (Maine) College and later served as a drill instructor in the U.S. Marine Corps. He joined O-I in 1960 and held a variety of positions in the International Group before becoming marketing director of Owens-Illinois International in 1968.

Brownson became general manager of Durobor, O-I's Belgium subsidiary, in 1971. He served three years as general manager of O-I International in Geneva before he was named Libbey general manager in 1975.

A native of Columbus, Laimbeer attended Bradfield (England) College and Harvard University before joining O-I as a Forest Products Division sales representative in 1959. He came to Toledo in 1964 as manager of product and market development for the division.

Laimbeer spent five years at the O-I Chicago box plant, first as sales manager and then as general manager, before moving to the West Coast in 1971 as general manager of both the Pacific Coast Region and the division's Los Angeles box plant. He has been general manager of box plant operations for the past year.

A native of Martins Ferry, Ward received a bachelor of arts degree from Ohio State University in 1956. He went to work for the Toledo law firm of Fuller, Henry, Hodge & Snyder, O-I legal counsel, in 1958 after receiving a doctor of jurisprudence degree from Ohio State.

Ward joined the O-I legal department in 1962. He became assistant secretary of the company in 1969 and assistant general counsel in February of 1975. He has been Kimble general manager since last October.

Man Charged With 3 Crimes

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Charles D. Cotton, 32, of Mansfield, accused of the Feb. 6 murder of patrolman Michael E. Hutchison, will be arraigned Friday in Richland County Common Pleas Court on three felony charges.

A county grand jury indicted Cotton on Monday for aggravated murder, forgery and felonious assault.

Also indicted were Cotton's wife, Alice, 22, for forgery, obstructing justice and carrying a concealed weapon, and Freddie Elsby, 19, of Mansfield for obstructing justice and carrying a concealed weapon.

Cotton is accused of shooting Hutchison to death and wounding auxiliary officer Roger Casler as the pair attempted to arrest him for reportedly trying to cash a forged check.

Borax, originally obtained from deposits of volcanic origin, now comes mostly from brines and dry lake beds where ground water has concentrated it. Borax is used in making glass and enamels in chemical industries.

Griping Techniques Explained

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If you want to complain effectively by telephone or mail, there are a few preparations you should make to be successful in getting your point across.

—Be sure to list the names, addresses and telephone numbers you'll need.

—Write in one sentence the purpose of your call or letter. If you don't know, how can you expect anyone else to understand?

—Write a paragraph that states the nature of your problem. Can you understand it?

—Do enough research to know who is capable of giving you satisfaction on the problem.

When it comes to the telephone call, make it brief. Make a reasonable demand on the person who can help you out. Give the other party time to respond.

Be sure you get a commitment in terms of days or weeks to resolve your problem. Don't accept a pat answer like: "We'll get to it soon." Follow your phone call with a letter. State your problem briefly using the paragraph you wrote before and attach copies of any transactions. Don't threaten anyone.

If you don't get an answer, go to the next person up. If it's a department store, write to the president or owner.

If you need the state attorney general's office on a complaint and don't know who to talk to, call 1-614-466-4320 for general information.

Here's a list of the most frequently called numbers in the attorney general's office: administrative agencies — 466-8639; antitrust — 466-2677; Bureau of Criminal Identification BCI — 466-2816; Bureau of Employment Service — 466-2707; charitable foundations — 466-3180; chief counsel's staff — 466-2980; civil rights — 466-4316; claims — 466-4510; consumer frauds — 1-800-282-0515; court of Claims — 466-5610; criminal activities — 466-5414; environmental law — 466-5983; financial institutions — 466-8600; liquor control — 466-3232; peace officer training — 466-3081; public utilities — 466-4395; special litigation — 466-2872; taxation — 466-5967; transportation — 466-4656; workmen's compensation — 466-6696.

All telephone numbers listed above are area code 614 except the toll-free consumer frauds line.

If you have a complaint about professional services such as a doctor, dentist, lawyer or judge, the attorney general cannot help you. His office has no jurisdiction.

The state Supreme Court has set up a new grievance procedure and accepts complaints about attorneys.

Doctors, dentists and most professionals are reviewed by peer groups in Ohio such as the state medical and dental boards.

Fedders Purchases Airtemp Division

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A Chrysler Corp. official says no word has been received yet from the Fedders Corp. of Edison, N.J. on plans to move or phase out Chrysler Airtemp residential and commercial air conditioning production here.

Fedders purchased Airtemp on Monday for $58.5 million.

Jerry Moore, the Chrysler spokesman, said until a changeover schedule is worked out, Airtemp will continue operating the facility for Fedders.

Ohio's Malpractice Law Questioned

CLEVELAND (AP) — The constitutionality of a provision in Ohio's new malpractice law that limits damages recoverable to $200,000 has been questioned by two Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judges.

Judges George W. White and George J. McMonagle recently questioned the law's provision in a memorandum of opinion issued in connection with motions to dismiss two malpractice suits before them.

White said Tuesday that he and McMonagle think this provision is unconstitutional. "Here there is a transgression of a basic unconstitutional principle forbidding unequal and special treatment for a class (physicians) with no general beneficent reason apparent," the judges' memorandum states in part.

"The extending of special litigation benefits to the medical profession certainly cannot be considered as relating to protection of the public health...If the medical profession is less accountable than formerly, relaxation of medical standards may occur with the public as the victim," the memorandum also states.

White said that if the suits currently before them—which have not been adjudicated—are appealed, the $200,000 limit could be ruled unconstitutional by a higher court.

The judges issued their opinion in connection with related suits filed in their courts. McMongale is hearing a suit brought by Arlie B. Graley of Cleveland against a Lakewood surgeon and White is hearing a suit brought by Richard Ahlgrim against the Cleveland Clinic Foundation. Both plaintiffs had asked for damages exceeding the $200,000 limit, White said.

A similar provision in Idaho setting limits to damages that can be awarded has been stricken down, White noted. Last year that state enacted a law which set a $150,000 limit on damages involving one person. But the Fourth Judicial District in Idaho ruled the provision unconstitutional.

White added that the defendants had asked the courts to dismiss the suits on the grounds that the suits were filed after the law went into effect but that the alleged malpractice took place before the law went into effect. The judges rejected the dismissal motions, saying the new law makes no provision for retroactivity.

Ohio's malpractice law, among other things, sets up a joint underwriting association to backstop privately written malpractice insurance. Under the law, malpractice suits must first undergo an arbitration attempt before going to court. Gov. James A. Rhodes signed the bill into law on July 28.

Easter Seal Campaign To Start Monday

Approximately 30 women of the Pickaway County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and friends of the society, have spent countless hours typing labels, sorting and filling 11,000 envelopes with Easter Seals in readiness for mailing on March 1.

The mailing is done immediately after the annual Easter Seal Campaign kick-off which is being held Sunday Feb. 29 at the Ohio State Student Union Building in Columbus. The campaign runs from March 1 through April 18.

Woody Hayes will be the luncheon speaker and is scheduled to take part in the picture taking session with winners of the "Easter Parade On Wheels" and each local Easter Seal child throughout Ohio.

Faith Brown, 4½-year-old daughter of Mr. an Mrs. Gary Brown of Route 5, is Pickaway Coutny's 1976 Easter Seal Child. Faith is expecting to attend the kick-off along with Richard E. Plum, president-elect of the Ohio Easter Seal Society, Dick T. Tootle, Pickaway County's 1976 Easter Seal Campaign chairman and many members of the local Easter Seal Society.

Schorr Defends Leaking Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Television newsman Daniel Schorr, suspended by CBS for leaking a secret House intelligence report, says he believes the central question in any legal battle he may face remains the public's right to know.

"Experience has taught that it is not possible to work as a reporter while personally involved in a controversy over reporters' rights, and I accept that reality," Schorr said Monday. A CBS correspondent for 23 years, he has maintained that he "could not be responsible for suppressing the report."

The House Ethics Committee was scheduled to meet today to consider finding Schorr in contempt of Congress. The House voted 269 to 115 on Thursday to investigate circumstances of the leak of the report.

The first completely closed automobile bodies were manufactured in 1909.

P. Eugene Long Announces Candidacy For Prosecutor

P. Eugene Long II, 443 N. Court St., has announced his candidacy for Pickaway County Prosecuting Attorney. The 30-year-old Long will seek the Republican nomination in the June 8 Primary for the term which will begin Jan. 1, 1977.

Long has been in the practice of law since Nov. 9, 1974. He is associated in his practice with John Farthing. A native Pickaway Countian, Long graduated from Monroe Twp. High School in 1963 where he was valedictorian of his class.

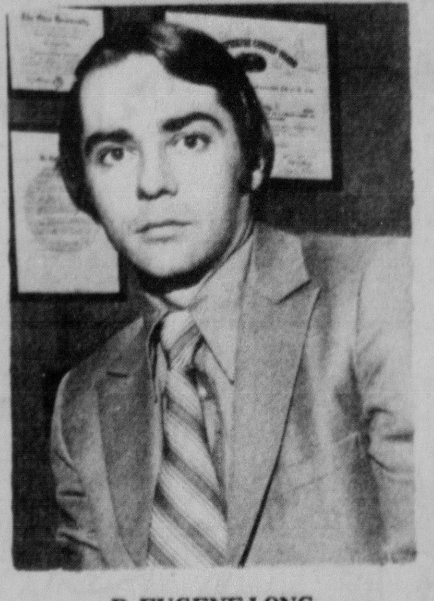
In 1967, he received his bachelor of business administration degree from Ohio University. For the next five years, Long worked for Owens-Illinois as manager of Eastern Region sales. He left the position in 1972 to attend law school at the University of Toledo. He graduated in March, 1974, took the bar in July of that year and was sworn in on Nov. 9, 1974.

While still in law school, Long had an article published in "Discovery," a publication of the American Bar Association. His article was entitled "Zoning in the '70's, A New Look."

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Long of Williamsport, Long is himself the father of two sons.

He presently serves as solicitor for the villages of New Holland and Commercial Point.

Long said, if elected to the prosecutor's office, he would like to institute a career criminal prosecution program geared at the multiple offense criminal. In this program, the second, third or fourth time offender would either plead guilty or go to trial.



P. EUGENE LONG

He said with the help provided by an assistant prosecutor and the intern system, the program could be successful here. Such a plan has been very successful in Franklin County according to the prosecutor candidate.

The county prosecutor is also the legal advisor in civil actions against the various county officials. Long said this part of the job was as important to him as the criminal side of the position. He is especially interested in the cases involving land use.

Long also said that he felt his biggest asset in seeking the prosecutor's job was his background in business, He stated that the prosecutor's office had become an expensive operation and he hoped he could help in the management of the financial end of the position.

He said his experience as a criminal defense attorney will also enable him to see the other side of the criminal prosecution.

The candidate is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha Alumni; Central Ohio Green and White Club, Alumni association for former Ohio University athletes; and an alumni of both Ohio University and the University of Toledo.

He is also a member of the Pickaway County Bar Association, the Ohio State Bar Association and the American Bar Association. As a member of the local Bar, he serves as chairman of the legislative review committee.

Other affiliations include the BPO Elks, membership on the board of directors for the Salvation Army, Executive Committee for the Republican Party and the newly formed Young Republican Club.

President's Social Security Plan Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's plan to raise Social Security taxes by as much as $1 a week per worker apparently is dead, a victim of the battle between Congress and the White House over economic policy.

The Senate Finance Committee's action rejecting Ford's proposal came as no surprise. And while the decision could be reversed by the Senate and the House, the prospect in this election year is unlikely.

Without a formal vote, the Finance Committee agreed Tuesday that its spending and tax plans for 1977 would not include an increase in Social Security payroll deductions. The panel delayed until later this year a decision on whether money should be taken from elsewhere in the federal budget to pump up the Social Security system.

In addition, the committee agreed tentatively to increase benefits under the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program by up to $900 million next year. That program provides federal checks each month to 4.3 million needy elderly, disabled and blind persons.

How that $900 million will be spent was not decided, although a large portion may be used to insure that state contributions to SSI are not cut when federal benefits are raised.

The decisions on Social Security taxes and increased SSI benefits, coupled with the committee's agreement to rely on congressional economic predictions rather than those of the Ford administration, would mean a $5.1-billion increase in the $43-billion deficit Ford is predicting for 1977.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Finance Committee, told his colleagues there is no reason for Congress to rush more money into the Social Security system now, although checks mailed out each month to the retired, disabled and survivors of workers are exceeding revenues poured into the fund by payroll taxes.

By all accounts, the system will remain solvent at least through 1981, although the gap between incoming tax money and benefits paid out will continue to widen.

Common Pleas Court Hands Down 5 Felony Convictions

Five defendants appeared this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for sentencing on felony charges.

Donald Crosby was sentenced to a term in the Ohio Penitentiary of six months to five years on the charge of receiving stolen property. Judge William Ammer suspended the sentence and placed Crosby on probation for three years.

Judge Ammer also suspended the sentence he passed on Clarence Griffey. Griffey had been found guilty earlier of breaking and entering and grand theft. The court sentenced him to two terms of six months to five years at the Ohio Penitentiary but suspended that sentencing and placed Griffey on probation for three years.

Chester Howell, charged with grand theft, also had his sentence to the Ohio Pen suspended. He was originally given the same sentence as the other defendants, six months to five years, and was placed on probation for three years.

Violation of probation charges were heard against Shirley Heeter. The court found that he had violated his probation and ordered the probation continued as before with the stipulation that Heeter serve 90 days in the Pickaway County Jail.

Pleading guilty to breaking and entering and grand theft during the mid-week session of court was William Lowery. The court sentenced him to two concurrent terms of 1 to 5 years each at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men. Judge Ammer ordered that these sentences are also to run concurrently with the sentences he received earlier in both Pickaway and Ross Counties.

Lid Put On Intelligence Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford ordered the Justice Department and Defense Department to refuse compliance with a House subcommittee subpoena for records about government interceptions of cables sent to and from U.S. citizens, congressional sources say.

A spokesman for the House government information subcommittee said Tuesday the panel had been told that Ford was prepared to invoke executive privilege to keep the subcommittee from obtaining information on Operation Shamrock, the now-defunct cable interception program.

Four FBI agents and a National Security Agency employe who were involved in Operation Shamrock were scheduled to testify today before the subcommittee, which is headed by Rep. Bella S. Abzug, D-N.Y.

The subcommittee said late Tuesday that Ford ordered Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi and the Defense Department in a memorandum last week to refuse to comply with the panel's subpoenas for all records on the interception of cable traffic.

Ford's memo said, "The scope of the records sought is so extremely broad as to encompass records containing the most sensitive national security information."

Committee aides said Levi and Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements agreed to let the agents appear before the panel, but indicated their testimony would be limited.

Meanwhile, the Reporters' Committee for Freedom of the Press said it will not accept any money from the weekly Village Voice in connection with the printing of the House intelligence committee's final report.

CBS newsman Daniel Schorr, who arranged for publication of the secret report, had said he specified in his dealings with the Village Voice that the Reporter's Committee should get any fee due him from the New York paper.

The Washington-based Reporters' Committee issued a statement Tuesday saying it had agreed to accept money from publication of the House report in book form, but won't take any money from the Village Voice.

Village Voice publisher Clay Felker has not said whether he is paying anyone for the report and would not answer telephone queries.

The Reporter's Committee chief trustee, Jack Landau, said the committee decided against accepting any payment due Schorr "to avoid any suggestion that the committee was involved in commercialization or checkbook journalism."

A quiet struggle is developing in the Senate over whether a proposed new panel to oversee U.S. intelligence agencies should have exclusive jurisdiction to monitor all government spy activities.

The Senate Government Operations Committee voted Tuesday to create a new committee with power to monitor domestic and foreign intelligence operations conducted by all government agencies.

But it was learned that members of the Senate Judiciary Committee don't want to give up their traditional responsibility for overseeing domestic intelligence activities, particularly those by the FBI.

The resolution also provides for punishment up to expulsion for senators who leak information. It would also empower the full Senate to disclose intelligence data over the President's objection.

New Hampshire Contest Points To Long Road

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — President Ford's hairbreadth victory over Ronald Reagan in New Hampshire's keynote Republican primary points to a long struggle for the Republican presidential nomination. It signals that a quick knockout blow will be hard to land in the procession of elections to come.

Ford is a winner, and that helps. But the New Hampshire verdict also shows that when they get to the voting booth, Republicans are closely divided between the man who is president and the man who wants to be.

Georgia's Jimmy Carter was the big winner in the first of the presidential primaries, scoring a comfortable victory that makes him the front-runner among Democratic candidates. There are nine all told.

Carter's new mantle is one that can have drawbacks. But it is a giant step forward for the former governor who came to New Hampshire as a nobody more than a year ago and left with first prize.

"I remember when we couldn't find a microphone," said Carter.

He'll find plenty now, for it is both the blessing and the curse of the frontrunning candidate that he faces intense scrutiny every step of the campaign way.

With the ballots counted after an all-night Republican tally awarded Ford his victory, the political caravan breaks camp and moves southward, the Democrats to do battle in Massachusetts next Tuesday, Ford and Reagan to meet again in Florida on March 9.

Ford captured his first statewide political contest with 51 per cent of the vote, a margin of just over 1,300 ballots.

The New Hampshire vote was a preface, to be overtaken within days by the decisions of other voters, in bigger states. Reagan had an apt phrase for it: "One primary does not a summer make."

Howard H. Callaway, Ford's national campaign manager, said Reagan had been beaten in his strongest northern state. Reagan said he had done better than anyone should have expected.

They can argue about that forever — or at least until the next primary. The fact is that Ford won, in a state where Reagan enjoyed the ardent support of the dominant newspaper, the Manchester UnionLeader, the backing of Gov. Meldrim Thomson and a superior campaign organization.

Reagan was campaigning today in Illinois, which holds its primary March 16, but by nighttime, he is due in Tampa, Fla. And the New Hampshire loss may well lead him to intensify his personal campaign in Florida.

"They told us that any kind of a victory would help the President in Florida," a Ford campaign strategist said. "Well, we've given them any kind of a victory."

The Reagan ploy had been to try to hold Ford to the standard expected of elected presidents. That's what did in Lyndon B. Johnson eight years ago, when he won the New Hampshire primary but was rated a loser because he only had a seven point margin.

But Ford is not an elected President. He holds office by appointment and succession. The New Hampshire primary was his first electoral test outside the Grand Rapids, Mich., congressional district that 13 times elected him to the House.

And Reagan, actually, has been on both sides of the argument, saying on one hand that he shouldn't be expected to beat an incubment, and on the other that he has the background to prove he can win elections.

For what it's worth, there also is a bit of history on Ford's side now. There have been six previous presidential preference primaries here and, in that time, no candidate who did not win in New Hampshire has made it to the White House.

The Reagan ploy had been to try to hold Ford to the standard expected of elected presidents. That's what did in Lyndon B. Johnson eight years ago, when he won the New Hampshire primary but was rated a loser because he only had a seven point margin.

But Ford is not an elected President. He holds office by appointment and succession. The New Hampshire primary was his first electoral test outside the Grand Rapids, Mich., congressional district that 13 times elected him to the House.

And Reagan, actually, has been on both sides of the argument, saying on one hand that he shouldn't be expected to beat an incubment, and on the other that he has the background to prove he can win elections.

For what it's worth, there also is a bit of history on Ford's side now. There have been six previous presidential preference primaries here and, in that time, no candidate who did not win in New Hampshire has made it to the White House.

Common Pleas Court Hands Down 5 Felony Convictions

Five defendants appeared this morning in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court for sentencing on felony charges.

Donald Crosby was sentenced to a term in the Ohio Penitentiary of six months to five years on the charge of receiving stolen property. Judge William Ammer suspended the sentence and placed Crosby on probation for three years.

Judge Ammer also suspended the sentence he passed on Clarence Griffey. Griffey had been found guilty earlier of breaking and entering and grand theft. The court sentenced him to two terms of six months to five years at the Ohio Penitentiary but suspended that sentencing and placed Griffey on probation for three years.

Chester Howell, charged with grand theft, also had his sentence to the Ohio Pen suspended. He was originally given the same sentence as the other defendants, six months to five years, and was placed on probation for three years.

Violation of probation charges were heard against Shirley Heeter. The court found that he had violated his probation and ordered the probation continued as before with the stipulation that Heeter serve 90 days in the Pickaway County Jail.

Pleading guilty to breaking and entering and grand theft during the mid-week session of court was William Lowery. The court sentenced him to two concurrent terms of 1 to 5 years each at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men. Judge Ammer ordered that these sentences are also to run concurrently with the sentences he received earlier in both Pickaway and Ross Counties.
